MANGLED OPA BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

STATE LIBRARY OF MASS. 22 1946 HOUSE, BOSTON

Fire Victims—His birthday cake and many presents, which were to be presented to Richard Feldman on his sixth birthday today, were destroyed when fire, which allegedly started in the family refrigerator, swept a three-tenement house on Ransom rd., Brighton, early this morning. House 355-42 Mangles OPA

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The House voted overwhelmingly today to continue OPA for nine months, but in a form OPA Administrator Paul Porter said would wreck price control. It was one of President Truman's worst legislative defeats since he entered the White House. The roll-call vote on passage was 355 to 42.

The House, meeting at 10 a. m., two hours earlier than usual, tossed the amendment-ridden bill over to the Senate.

Before the final vote was taken, Rep. Sabath, (D.) of Illinois, 80-year-old dean of the House, shouted to his colleagues:

"You have murdered OPA!"

OPA Chief Porter estimated that if the agency collapses because of congressional amendments, consumer prices might skyrocket as much as 50 per cent over present levels.

On final passage by the House, 205 Democrats, 148 Republicans and two minor party members voted for the bill. Opposing were 34 Republicans and eight Democrats.

A bloc of Democrats, chiefly from the South, combined with Republicans to so burden the bill with amendments that Chester Bowles, economic stabilizer, said the House had started "a joy ride toward economic disaster."

After a 35-minute conference with the President, Bowles termed the measure "impossible."

Asked by White House reporters if he would resign in the event it passes both Houses in its present form, he would not say. He did say, however, that he did not see "what could be done" to maintain price controls under it.

As to whether there was any discussion of a veto with the President, he told reporters he couldn't say.

"We want price control," he declared. "Price control would be impossible as the bill stands now."

The House refused on a 370 to 20 roll call vote to shelve the continuation bill, rejecting a motion by Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi, to send it back to the banking committee.

Asked at a news conference if the Chief Executive had any comment on the House amendments, Press Sec. Ross told reporters:

"Not for print."

Asked if the President was going to "do anything about it?" Ross replied:

"He hopes for much better results in the Senate." He did not elaborate.

Only rent control survived the House rebellion unscathed.

With the legislation in control of Republicans, aided by a contingent of Democrats, here's what the House has done to OPA—subject to Senate concurrence:

1—Decreed on a 209 to 189 roll call vote that OPA's new life span beyond June 30 shall be no more than nine months.

2—Ordered scrapping of the government's $2,000,000,000 annual subsidy program, used to hold down food costs. This amendment stipulates that such subsidies must stop by Jan. 1 and OPA must allow price increases to compensate for reductions in subsidies. The $715,000,000 meat subsidy was ordered stopped June 30, with an equivalent rise in meat prices.

3—Wrote in a cost-plus plan requiring OPA to fix prices so as to guarantee each manufacturer and distributor, including retailers, a "reasonable profit" on each item produced and handled. Offered by Rep. Wolcott (R.) of Michigan, this amendment was approved 259 to 137.

4—Wrote in a forced-liquidation formula, whereby OPA would be required to lift price ceilings on any commodities whose output attains a rate equivalent to 1941.

5—Repealed OPA's maximum average price order, known as MAP, by which the agency requires manufacturers to produce low cost clothing.

6—Prohibited OPA from interfering with normal profit or discount margins of retailers and wholesalers on reconversion items such as automobiles, refrigerators and radios. This would repeal a large portion of OPA's retail cost absorption program.

Reversing itself, the House voted 223 to 172 to retain price controls on meat, after earlier voting 139 to 122 to erase meat from OPA's control list.

PITTSBURGH, April 18 (AP)—An ex-soldier, filing a petition for eviction of tenants from a home he bought, told J. W. Weixel, veterans' adviser in the OPA rent division, a number of reasons why he needed the house, and added:

"My dog is also expecting a litter of puppies on June 2."

Russia Reported Losing Move to Drop Iran Case

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Soviet Russia was reported today to have lost a strenuous battle behind closed doors to have the United Nations Security Council's procedure experts rule against further consideration of the Iranian case. As the Council prepared to meet this afternoon, the committee of experts on rules and procedure was said to be split eight to three, with the majority holding the case could legally be kept on the agenda. The Council was expected to resume its debate on the controversial Spanish question at the opening of the session, while the experts completed drafting majority and minority reports on the Iranian question.

Sources close to the committee said these reports, based on a study of Sec. Gen. Trygve Lie's opinion that there might be no legal grounds for keeping the case on the agenda, would be submitted to the council late in the afternoon.

This was expected to open the way for a renewed fight on the floor over the legality of maintaining jurisdiction over the case.

The lineup in the committee of experts was the same as that during the council debate earlier this week—Russia, Poland and France insisting the question should be dropped.

The other eight members, led by U. S. Delegate Stettinius, have argued that the case should be kept on the agenda until May 6, the date on which Russia has promised to have all her troops out of Iran.

There was some possibility that the council might reach a vote late in the day.

Meanwhile, Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, was scheduled to lead off in the Spanish debate with an assault on some of the arguments advanced yesterday by Polish Delegate Oscar Lange in his plea that members of the United Nations break diplomatic relations with Franco Spain.

Truman, Hoover On Air Friday

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President Truman suggested in a telegram to Herbert Hoover today the former president return home to lay "forcibly and dramatically" before the American people the need for food in famine-stricken Europe.

Hoover has been touring Europe as honorary chairman of famine emergency committee. He is now in Cairo and had expected to go to India, China and Japan.

Mr. Truman and Hoover will go on the air tomorrow night at 7:15 to tell the world of hunger conditions in other lands. The White House said this apparently would be the first time a president and former president had appeared on the same radio program. Hoover will speak from overseas.

U. S. Embassy at Tehran Queried on Iran News Gag

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The State Department announced today it is taking up the question of Iran's new tight censorship of outgoing news with the American embassy at Tehran.

The department declined to say specifically whether it was merely inquiring or strongly protesting.

(An Associated Press delayed dispatch from Iran, the first received since imposition of the new censorship, said the U. S. embassy was sending a note of protest to the Iranian foreign ministry. An embassy spokesman said the note would express "grave concern" in strong diplomatic language.)

The guarded comment that "we are taking the matter up with the American embassy at Tehran" suggested that full information on the why and wherefores of the Iranian case might be a primary objective of the State Department's action.

The department started an urgent two-way quest to determine:

1—Whether the action was Russian inspired, and

2—What the United States might be able to do to get the iron lid lifted.

Heiress Tells Why She Fled College

Dorothy Ball, blonde 20-year-old Muncie, Ind., heiress, who was found in a 25-cent Salvation Army room on New York's Bowery yesterday, after being sought throughout the East following her disappearance from Mt. Holyoke College, South Hadley, Monday, sat in a luxurious Manhattan hotel room today and said:

1—She had run away because she wanted to go to work.

2—She, her parents, and a sister, would celebrate her return to the family fold with an Easter reunion at Andover, where her brother, George, 15, is a freshman at Phillips Andover Academy.

Dorothy granted a press interview at the plush Chatham Hotel, where her father, E. Arthur Ball, millionaire glass jar manufacturer, took her yesterday after she ran sobbinb into his arms at the Salvation Army shelter.

The attractive Mt. Holyoke student is deaf, but she is an accomplished lip reader and had no trouble in understanding questions as to why she fled from the cultured precincts of college to one of New York's least desirable neighborhoods.

She is not going back to college, she said. Her father confirmed it. Dorothy explained:

"It's a good college but I was under a strain. This was a sudden impulse, the running away. I wanted to find a job. I am afraid that philosophy, in which I am majoring, is not the kind of a study that helps one get a job."

Leed Voran, an attorney her father had present at the intnerview, broke in to say: "She lives within herself. She has to do it because of her affliction."

Ball volunteered, "She was studying under difficulties; it was not easy for her to read the lips of professors at large lecture assembles."

Sitting close to Dorothy in the hotel room was her sister, Barbara, 23, of Hartford, Ct., who is coming here with the family for the Andover reunion.

At Phillips Andover Academy today it was disclosed that Mrs. Ball had telephoned her son, George, from Indiana, yesterday concerning the discovery of his sister's whereabouts. The boy's father had telephoned him several times.

The freshman son was celebrating the good news this afternoon by playing golf as part of his physical education course at the exclusive prep school.

Dorothy's father told he he was not going to ply her with questions about the runaway episode. However, before she voluntarily explained she preferred a job to college, he said he suspected she wanaed to take up art work.

"She has creative ability," he remarked.

Fellow students at the college said Dorothy's interests in the past year have changed from creative writing to the drama, and

Blind Boy's Dog Gets Speedy Attention at Dog Clinic

Blind Boy's Dog Saved by Knife

The heart-shaken grief of a 2-year-old blind boy inspired the Animal Rescue League to drop all routine today and perform the fastest operation on record.

Baby Clinton J. A. Oborne of Fremont st., Somerville, blind since birth, has no sense of balance and cannot walk without hanging to the harness of Star, a strikingly intelligent German shepherd, who is his constant pal and mentor.

When Star disappeared three months ago, baby Clinton mourned and lost sleep and couldn't eat. Then one wonderful night Star, haggard and obviously ill-treated, but whole, climbed in an open window and crawled into bed beside the blind baby.

The two romped like mad and had a fine time until tragedy struck again recently when Star stepped on some broken glass, infecting his left paw. The wound became so bad it had to be treated. But Clinton, with his bitter memories of the lonely time when Star vanished, wouldn't let his pet out of his sight.

This morning the paw was worse and Clinton's mother, Mrs. Doris Oborne, realized she'd have to make a mercy dash, with all speed rules broken, to the Animal Rescue League. She had to leave her blind youngster hysterical with grief at home.

Dr. George W. Mather summoned assistants, operated, cleansed the wound, poured in sulfa and had the leg bandaged and the dog perked up in 21 minutes flat.

Vet Saves Child In East Boston Harbor Plunge

Diving fully clothed into the harbor, Louis Carey, 26, of Indiana ave., Somerville, Army Air Forces veteran, saved a 4-year-old boy from drowning today.

Carey was on his way to the N. E. Aircraft School in Maverick st., East Boston, when he was attracted to the waterfront by children's cries and saw a boy floating face down, 20 feet from shore.

He plunged in, dragged the youngster ashore, unconscious, then with the help of William Fowler of Prescott ter., Everett, applied prone pressure resuscitation while help was summoned. Police and firemen revived the boy, James Trainor of Sumner st., East Boston, with an inhalator.

The child was removed to East Boston Relief Hospital where doctors said he apparently suffered no serious effects from his narrow escape. Later the boy was taken home.

Playmates said James fell into the harbor when playing on a sea wall.

Fire Anniversary

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 (AP)—Forty years ago today—at 5:12 a. m.—the San Francisco Bay region trembled for 48 seconds under the impact of an earthquake.

Three days later, hundreds were dead, 200,000 homeless—victims of the quake and ensuing fire which devastated a major portion of the city. Damage was estimated at $500,000,000.

Sick Mother Robbed On Way to Hospital

A sick, 33-year-old mother on her way with her child to Massachusetts General Hospital, was robbed of her handbag containing $160 cash and a watch today in the Cambridge st. foot underpass.

Mrs. Etta Bonfeld told police a bushy-haired youth of about 17, wearing a green windbreaker with the initials "USN" on the back, rushed past, seizing her handbag as he ran.

MOTHER NABBED—Charged with abandoning her 3-week-old baby in a Washington, D. C., church pew, Mittie G. Anderson, 23-year-old former WAVE, is being held at Pleasantville, N. Y., for police of the former city. A pathetic note was found with the child, begging forgiveness. AP Wirephoto

Mother of 3 Shot Dead in Orange Home

ORANGE, April 18—The body of Mrs. Dorothy Cutter, 31, torn by a shotgun blast, was found sprawled on a chair in he parlor of her East st. home today under circumstances which baffled police.

The victim's husband, Clarence Cutter, also 31, said he discovered his wife dead about half an hour after he had heard a loud noise while working in his garage across the street.

"I thought I heard a window sash fall and thought nothing of it a the time," police quoted Cuter.

At 10 o'clock, he said, he entered the house to find his wife dead. A single-gauge shotgun lay on the floor behind the chair.

Cutter notified police, who in turn summoned State Police detectives. The couple's three children, Virginia, 9; Richard, 7, and Cardie, 5; were not in the house at the time of the shooting.

Dr. Harold A. Mahar, medical examiner, said the woman was struck in the abdomen by a single blast. The angle taken by the shot was not revealed. Mahar withheld all further statements until completion of an investigation.

Police quoted Cutter as saying his wife was apparently in good health and spirits. No explanation of the tragedy was offered.

Bright and Fair Here for Easter

After taking a squint at his charts and instruments, the weatherman came up with a prediction today to cheer all who'll be wearing new bonnets and spring finery next Sunday, because he reckons the present fine weather will continue through Easter.

Sole dark spot on the weather map was a low-pressure area in Canada which forecasters said can produce some cloudiness and breezes Easter Sunday. However, danger of showers appears slight.

LOCAL—Few scattered light showers this evening, clearing and not quite so cool tonight. Fair Friday and cooler than today.

Senators OK 33 Ships For Big A-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, April 18 (INS)—The Senate naval affairs committee today gave its approval to the use of Navy ships in the Bikini atomic bomb test by unanimously recommending Senate adoption of the House-passed resolution authorizing the test, with two amendments. One would eliminate the requirement that the Navy Secretary agree with Senate and House naval committee on the ships to be used. Another would limit combatant vessels in the test to 33—a change that Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the project, said was agreeable to the Navy.

Action came after the committee heard Blandy testify that the test will cost less than the expense of one new modern battleship, which would run about 100 million dollars.

Blandy called estimates by critics of the tests of a 480 million dollar expense "irresponsible."

With the exception of one carrier and five submarines, all the ships have been declared surplus. Their scrap value, he said, would be something like four million dollars.

But not all of them will be lost; many will be only slightly damaged, at least in the first test, he said.

The five serviceable submarines are being used because they have a new heavy type of hull on which information is needed, Blandy said.

Not more than one or two will be destroyed, he predicted.

Blandy was joined in testimony by other officials. Dr. R. A. Sawyer, scientific director, said "these tests are indispensible to the Army and Navy if we are to defend ourselves in the future."

Dr. Karl Compton, of the President's Evaluation Board, told the committee the test plan should be rushed while surplus ships and scientists on leave from universities are available.

Paralyzed Malden Vet Tells What Easter Means to Him

When a paralyzed soldier arrived at East Boston airport today, he brought with him the spirit of Easter.

ESgt. Lawrence Sasso, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sassa of Short st., Malden, had not been home for four years.

For the past year he has been at Halloran Hospital, Staten Island, paralyzed from the waist down from shrapnel in the spine.

"I think I understand the meaning of Easter a little bit," he said as he was greeted at the American Airlines by his mother and brother, Joe.

"Last Easter Sunday, I was fighting. There was no time to pray. It was hell. I got hit the next day. But this Easter I am going to get to services in St. Joseph's Church. I never thought I'd live to see this wonderful day."

A former brakeman for the Boston & Maine railroad, Sasso begged to come home for 10 days. The Malden Red Cross brought a bed with a Balkan frame to his house and the Malden Red Cross ambulance, escorted by Malden police, met him at the plane.

With the 32nd infantry division, Sasso was overseas 30 months at New Guinea, Leyte and Luzon.

"The most wonderful sensation I've ever had is this—just to know I could make the plane trip in spite of my handicap. I have proved that I can get around now.

"And there is much to be thankful for. My three brothers are safe. Joe was overseas, Mike was injured but he's O. K. and William is safe in Japan. And now I'm going home and all my friends will come to see me," he said.

And his mother kissed him and said, "Yes, I know the meaning of Easter, too."

Forbidden Salome Dance Gets N. Y. Night Club Offer

DETROIT, April 18 (INS)—This is no moral for other teenagers, but 16-year-old Beverly Cort has an offer to appear in a famous New York night club because she disobeyed her teacher.

It all began in Lincoln High School in Van Dyke, a Detroit suburb, where Beverly was to dance as Salome, wearing an abbreviated costume, in a student-sponsored show.

Her teacher, Mrs. Stella Kaski, however, forbade the dance unless it was performed in slacks.

Beverly changed to the brief costume at the last minute. She was censured. A rumor swept the school that she was to be expelled.

Aroused over the incident, the young dancer's fellow students staged a strike and stayed away from school in protest. The incident caused a furor in the little community and attracted the attention of Detroit newspapers.

As a result of the publicity, Billy Rose wired Beverly an offer to appear in the famed diamond horseshoe at New York. Promised a two weeks' contract to perform the Salome ballet in the abbreviated costume.

Beverly will probably accept, if her parents agree.

The Van Dyke school board, meanwhile, merely reprimanded the dancer. No disciplinary measures were taken against her or the other students who struck.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IT WOULD SEEM that puppet Poland's principal objection to Franco's Spain is that Spain has become an asylum for German scientists.

Those Germans who have taken refuge in Spain are, according to Dr. Lange's rationalization, "Nazis"; those who are in the United States are apparently all "Liberals."

Congressman Coffee, who possesses somehow an amazing omniscience on all that occurs in distant countries, is apparently sure that these German scientists are working on atomic fission in Spain. Maybe so.

He has produced no evidence but his own statement, which, after all, is little enough.

But why should they not? An atomic scientist works on atomic fission wherever he may be, if he can.

The American atomists have been telling us steadily and without provocation that everybody upon this earth knows all about the atom and that there can be no secrecy.

They have published a heterogeneous list to prove it. Millions of words have appeared to prove it. Nearly every day my mail is cluttered with mimeographed and printed documents insisting that there is no secrecy in this field.

Yet, suddenly it is discovered that what is not a secret anywhere is also not a secret in Spain.

BESIDES, there is no law against investigating atomic fission. Personally, my hunch is that neither the Spaniards nor the Germans are making bombs.

It cost us $2,000,000,000 to produce half a dozen or so, although I think it was brother Hugh Delacy who announced that we by now have 1500 of them—and we are still spending something like $500,000,000 a year on this murderous business.

The Russians announced that they would go into this business, too, and beat the world, as they beat the world in everything including the production of consumer goods and the recognition of human liberty.

But that boast was obviously made on the assumption that they could successfully steal our plans—and the Canadians broke up that hijacking although the State Department has been accused of having prevented J. Edgar Hoover's FBI from doing it earlier.

Nobody else is making bombs because nobody really knows altogether how and nobody was the dough. It is as simple as that.

Maybe the countries who are not in the United Nations might say that as long as they are left out, they will make atomic bombs to blow the United Nations up with, my dears!

It would be a fitting rebuke to the "peace-loving" nations like Soviet Russia and the British Empire from the war-mongers like Switzerland and Ireland.

Also, I think it might be well to ask Dr. Lange, who gave up his American citizenship to become an ambassador, to what country is it intended to expel these German scientists who have taken refuge in Spain?

Are they to be sent to Berlin, where they will be punished for their scientific crimes by being shipped to Siberia and Turkestan, there to work on the atomic bomb for Soviet Russia?

In Spain they are refugees; in Russia they could be slaves.

Is it more moral for a "Nazi-refugee scientist" to work for Russia than for Spain?

Does doing research in Spain make him an international pariah but doing the same thing in Russia or Great Britain or the United States make the same man a gentleman?

THE HYPOCRISY in this transaction beggars anything conceived by Talleyrand or produced by Metternich. Diplomacy has ceased to be the gentle art of achieving abominable results by masterly politeness; it has been reduced to the vulgarity of unashamed and brazen lying.

Why does not Dr. Lange say simply that he wants the United Nations to kick out Franco and install a Communist regime in Spain? That would be the whole truth—and very refreshing.

Airliner Dives To Avert Mid-Air Crash; 2 Injured

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Two passengers in an Eastern Airlines plane were slightly injured today when the pilot put his ship into a vertical dive to avoid colliding with an unidentified aircraft 6000 feet above Trenton, N. J.

Capt. Joseph Kelly, veteran pilot, said the other plane was possibly a Navy plane, flying at the wrong altitude under civil aeronautics clearance.

When the plane landed here at 12:04 p. m., Mrs. Edna Williams, 38, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Aida Simon, 38, of Mexico City, Mexico, were rushed to Alexandria Hospital, near National Airport, for "preventive" examination.

Capt. Kelly said the combined speeds of the two planes as they neared one another was more than 400 miles an hour. He said he had to dive so suddenly that the 21 passengers had no time to fasten their safety belts, and several were thrown around in the plane.

"If I hadn't seen the other plane in that overcast there would have been a sudden merger," said Capt. Kelly, a former Army flier and a pilot for 15 years. "I hate to think of what would have happened if we'd crashed."

Flames Sweep Ft. Ruckman, 4 Homes Ignited

Fire destroyed the post theater at Ft. Ruckman, Nahant, today, burned down two barracks built to accommodate 50 men each, ignited four civilian homes, one half a mile away, and put out of order at least 150 telephones.

Lynn residents, alarmed by rumors their summer cottages in Nahant were going up in flames, nearly jammed the causeway as they sped toward the fire in autos, trucks and taxicabs.

The blaze was fought under the handicap of a strong east wind by firemen of the fort, Nahant, Lynn, Ft. Banks and the skeleton force of soldiers at Ruckman.

One of two fire engines responding from Lynn was halted half a mile from the scene while firemen extinguished a roof blaze in Emerald st. started by wind-blown embers.

The three other roof fires were put out in Flash st., nearer the fort.

The blaze was discovered by James Crutch of Nashville, Tenn., a member of the government police, stationed at the gate of the reservation.

7 Flee Brighton Fire; Parents, Girl Saved

Trapped in their third floor apartment when flames and heavy smoke cut off both front and rear stairway exits, Mr. and Mrs. Myer Wolf and their daughter, Barbara, 18, were rescued over ladders by firemen early today when fire swept a three-tenement house in Ransom rd., Brighton, driving two other families to the street.

The Wolfs were on their front porch screaming for help when firemen arived in answer to an alarm sounded by John H. Schroeder, a neighbor.

Mr. and Mrs. David Feldman and their son Richard, 6, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Bloom, and their children, James, 9, and Daniel, 5, fled the first and second floor apartments through thick smoke.

Dist. Fire Chief Joseph W. Shea, who estimated damage at $3500, said the blaze was caused by a spark from a refrigerator in the Feldman apartment.

The spark ignited motor grease and the flames mushroomed through the walls, breaking out through the rear hallway.

Tenants, who fled in their nightclothes, were sheltered at the homes of neighbors.

Public Misled By MacDonald, Cairnes Charges

Joseph F. Cairnes, appointed a few weeks ago by Governor Tobin as associate public works commissioner, charged today that Public Works Comr. Herman A. MacDonald deliberately was attempting to mislead the public and Executive Council in connection with the postwar Federal Aid highway program

Cairnes repeated Governor Tobin's charges that MacDonald was far behind in construction—charges on which the Governor ousted him. Tobin, however, was unsuccessful yesterday in obtaining immediate council sanction on the ouster.

Told of the Cairnes blast, MacDonald laughed and said: "I don't pay much attention to that. He's gunning for my job and everyone knows he's Tobin's snooper."

MacDonald further stated that former Public Works Comr. William Callahan, removed by former Gov. Saltonstall, also was a candidate for the job he still holds, but that the Governor had turned Callahan down.

"Mr. MacDonald has spoken glibly of millions of dollars in highway programs which he has submitted to the federal government for approval," Cairnes said. "He carefully avoided explaining that 'programs' are not actually construction plans. He well knows, although he has failed to mention the fact, that 'programs' are merely general lists of highway needs.

To illustrate: The McLellan highway connection that calls for $5,860,000 under the urban road program is less than 20 per cent completed; plans for the $805,000 Plymouth-Kingston bypass have only just been started; only a start has been made on plans for the $300,000 section of the Worcester turnpike, and no plans have been entirely completed for the $2,700,000 Gloucester project."

LEAPED FOR LIFE—Trapped on the second floor of a Philadelphia home when flames cut off her escape as she made a vain effort to save the lives of two little children, Betty Lee Ross, 21, leaped from a second story window. She suffers from burns, cuts and shock.

Army Caste on Way Out, Vets Told Here

The Army caste system must be abolished and that organization transformed into a democratic profession to insure our future safety, according to Gen. H. C. Holdridge, legal representative of the Veterans' League of America, who today conferred with members of the newly organized Boston chapter.

"We have the weapons but we must begin to talk about soldiers—not officers and enlisted men," he said. "The Army should become one democratic fighting force with opportunity for all to work to the top at good pay."

Gen. Holdridge declared the Army must be built around the atomic bomb and weapons even more fearful, but civilians must have control of these weapons.

"We need a small, hard-hitting force to fight the atomic bomb, super B-29's, a corps of saboteurs and men to deal with V-bombss and death rays. An Army of 200,000 men would be enough for any war of the future.

"The Army needs highly trained and experienced men, not 18-year-olds, but the caste system stops enlistments. Why don't millions of unemployed veterans want to work for Uncle Sam? Because he isn't the kind of boss they want. Thousands who worked on the atomic bomb have gone back to poorly paid civilian jobs because they couldn't endure the Army.

"I often wished I had classes for major generals instead of privates, so democracy could be taught to the top people. Frequently the Army system is despotic and tyrannical. There should be a complete revision of the court-martial system.

"It's about time the Army realized it is the agent of the people and I hope the Veterans' League can really preserve the intangible ideals for which our men fought."

Profitless Holdup Costs 5-Year Term

An armed robbery from which he did not glean a penny brought a sentence of five years and a day to Henry M. McGrath, 24, of Main st., Acton, in Middlesex superior court today.

McGrath, a war veteran, pleaded guilty to the holdup of a Chinese laundryman, Wong Thir Toy, of Lexington st., Waltham, Feb. 6, from whom he seized a bank book, valueless as loot. He was arrested a short while later when he entered the home of Mrs. Agatha Cormier, flourished his gun and demanded food.

$30,000 House Asked For Hospital Chief

In a special message to the Legislature, Gov. Tobin today asked for construction of a $30,000 house for the superintendent of Worcester State Hospital on the hospital grounds.

Dr. Bardwell H. Flower, the superintendent, is being evicted from the private house he now occupies in Shrewsbury, the Governor reported.

Slain Veteran's Pal Gives Clue

The movements of Andrew J. Karki, 22, of Maynard, former Army aerial gunner, who was found dead in a Summer st. doorway at 2:30 a. m., Wednesday, his face battered and skull fractured, have been traced up to two and one-half hours of the time his body was discovered, police revealed today.

Sgt. Raymond A. L. Monahan of the homicide squad, who went to Maynard yesterday, said police there were questioning a local man who told them he had been with Karki in Boston Tuesday night.

Chill Brush-Off Wins Her Divorce

She married him in Chile and he soon grew that way—though it was spelled chilly—Jean Curtis Shaw of 103 Beacon st., Back Bay, told Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., of Suffolk Probate Court today in winning a divorce from Alfred Cecil Shaw, former South American mining engineer but now of Epping st., Weymouth.

Though he was a mining engineer, all she got from him, according to her testimony, was a "lode" of disappointment in three countries—Chile, Argentina and Paraguay, where he finally gave Jean the brushoff and told her to go back to the States.

Mrs. Shaw, a former WAC with Pacific service, testified she met Alfred in Chile during a trip there to see her uncle. They were married March 20, 1939, when she was 18 and he 31.

Shaw went to Paraguay, but told her there were no accommodations at his post for women. Nevertheless, she went to Paraguay. He ordered her home. Returning to Boston in 1941, she enlisted in the WACs in February, 1943. Two years later she learned he had been drafted into the Navy.

Finally, she said, he came to the United States and they met, but what was her surprise when he asked why she had not obtained a divorce.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT AIR CONDITIONED

You can take it from Filene's Basement, headquarters to the rising generation for the past 37 years, that there are going to be some "sharp smoothies" in their Easter bonnet when it comes to go on parade come Easter. Have you joined the procession of those who daily head for The Only Store Of Its Kind In The World, where there is an ever-steady parade of odd lots, samples, seconds, retail store surpluses, famous brand and other miscellanies that KEEP DOWN THE COST OF DRESSING UP FOR EASTER? Wise parents, whether they have one image or a dozen, have learned that no matter what your clothes allowance, automatic economies will spread it much further. When a store sells millions of bargains in youngsters' apparel annually—isn't it pretty good proof that you are pretty apt to have just what the youngsters want when they want it? Yes, Filene's Basement is the rendezvous of youth. And it's more the merrier—we thrive on large families—couldn't get along without them. In fact, as busy as that famous bird Dr. Stork has been recently running a pretty big production line even though the task has been herculean at times, we have tried to keep with the demand for three cornered pants. Mrs. Geary is only one of our specialists, there are seventeen others, many with families of their own, constantly catering to youth, buying, planning and promoting sox and shirts, jumpers and bandannas, loafer jackets and loafer shoes, sweaters and more sweaters, confirmation dressers and toppers just when they are the most wanted. Yes, Filene's Basement is overflowing with Easter fashions, all on two handy floors with 17 handy entrances to make shopping with hiddies easy, so if you want Easter fashions that will be a major attraction in the Easter Parade make a beeline for Filene's Basement, famous for its own parade of low priced fashions for keeping DOWN the Cost of dressing UP for 37 years—headquarters to Youth.

Butter and Beef But Not for You

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 (INS)—Army port authorities disclosed today 2,000,000 pounds of butter and 3,000,000 pounds of beef are being returned here from Pacific areas.

Army Port Com. Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger said more than 700,000 tons of surplus war supplies and materials already have been returned. Three hundred and twenty-five thousand pairs of shoes and 140 railroad cars of lumber were recently returned.

These commodities, however, will not reach the civilian market directly but will represent just that much less buying by the government for Army installations, the general stated.

Girl Fire Victim, 5, Finds Easter Bunnies Lay Eggs

Little 5-year-old Constance Gentile of Sharon st., South End, one of the bravest patients at City Hospital, had an Easter party at the hospital today and made a surprising discovery—Easter bunnies really lay eggs.

Constance was cruelly burned last July when playmates accidentally set fire to her clothing. She has endured continuous grafting treatments ever since with never a whimper.

Her ever-present smile is the pride of nurses and doctors alike. She always is exhibited to visitors as a prize patient.

Today the nurses decided Constance should have a pre-Easter party and it went off in great style.

When it was over, the youngster discovered that her big Easter bunny was sitting on a nest of brightly colored eggs. Her shouts of delight drew the attention of other little patients and brought the nurses running.

Two of them, Miss Mary Tierney of Dorchester and Miss Rose Marie of Marlboro, who long have sung Constance's praises, grinned happily. They had arranged the Easter party.

Meanwhile, Constance is waiting for a bed at the Children's Hospital convalescent home in Wellesley where outdoor sun treatments are expected to bring about her complete recovery.

New Operation Cures Insane

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Hope for curing the heretofore hopelessly insane by a delicate frontal skull operation was advanced today by Dr. J. Grafton Love of the Mayo Clinic.

Dr. Love, here for a conference of the California-Arizona section of the American College of Surgeons, said it was not included in conference panels because it was felt it might "create too much of a sensation at this time."

"I have personally performed this operation on more than 100 patients and other surgeons have been and are making similar operations," he said. Why it cures insanity is not known, he acknowledged, listing cured cases as patients with dementia praecox, involution melancholia and some with suicidal tendencies.

Pilgrims Fill Jerusalem Despite Political Tension

JERUSALEM, April 18 (AP)—Through streets lined with barbed wire barricades and teaming with armed troops, thousands streamed into this ancient city today to see Christian worshipers recreate with symbolic ceremonies the last hours before Christ was crucified.

An undercurrent of tension prevailed throughout the Holy City as Palestine's three-cornered Arab-Jewish-British political controversy was complicated by a countrywide strike of 50,000 civil servants demanding increased pay and better working conditions.

Although so-called terrorist groups have been idle for a few days, authorities remained alert.

A three-hour walkout in sympathy with the strikers was set for today by several thousand persons employed in special wartime departments of the Palestine government.

Easter observance of the Western and Eastern Christian faiths coincide this year, making the Holy Sepulchre site and other sacred places more crowded than usual.

The ancient rites of Maundy Thursday began at daybreak and will continue all day as sect after sect stages its interpretation of the events of the day on which Christ led disciples into the upper room for the Last Supper.

Patriots Day Observances Curtailed for Good Friday

Commemorating the 171st anniversary of America's first fight for freedom, Patriots' Day exercises will be held tomorrow in downtown Boston, Roxbury, the North End, Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge, Lexington, Somerville and Medford.

So that exercises will not conflict with Good Friday religious services, many of the holiday programs will be curtailed and all will be over by noon.

The observance starts tonight when lanterns will shine from the belfry of Old North Church, where on April 18, 1775, signal lights notified Paul Revere to start his historic ride from Charlestown.

In Lexington, the celebration will start at 6 a. m. with the ringing of bells in the old belfry. A sunrise parade is scheduled at 7 a. m., and memorial exercises will be held on Battle Green at 10:30. These will conclude shortly after 11:30 with arrival of riders portraying William Dawes and Paul Revere.

The Boston Patriots' Day committee announced winners of the holiday essay contest.

High school prizes went to Leo W. Spillane, Technical High School, and Claire Lindsay, High School of Practical Arts.

Anne G. O'Brien, eighth grade pupil at the Thomas A. Edison School, won the intermediate award.

The Hard Way

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The sailor found out how the lever on the red box in a temporary Navy building worked today—it produced 22 fire trucks and a dozen police cars.

To angry Navy officers and scowling firemen, he explained: "I just wanted to see how it worked."

"Well, just look out of that window and you'll find out," a lieutenant roared at him, pointing at a roadway jammed with fire apparatus.

An alarm from any of the downtown federal buildings turns out everything available in the area.

Heiress

she was considered an accomplished actress on the campus.

When the heiress entered the Manhattan shelter Tuesday, she posed as a poor widow in search of a job. She carried a pad of paper and pencil, and, pointing to her ears to indicate deafness, scribbled the message:

"I am Mrs. Beatrice Decker, a widow, of New Bedford, Mass., and I want to live here while I'm looking for a job. What are the rates, please?"

When she was told the room cost 25 cents per night, the heiress with some $300 in her handbag drew out 50 cents and offered it to the clerk with a second message:

"This will take care of two nights' lodging. Maybe I'll find a job within that time."

Dorothy spent the night on a bed with a single sheet and two "scratchy" blankets, then left the shelter in the morning supposedly to seek a job as charwoman.

But her manners and expensive clothing had caught the attention of Maj. Helen Thomas, the superintendent, and she telephoned the missing persons bureau.

Two detectives stood guard at the shelter, awaiting the heiress' return, and when her father arrived at police headquarters on word she was seen in the city earlier, he was taken to the shelter.

He arrived as his blonde daughter was returning for her second night's lodging, and she rushed into his arms.

He came to New York from the college, accompanied by daughter Barbara, after a cousin, Miss Constance Owsley, told of meeting Dorothy by chance on a New York street Tuesday. This was apparently a short time before she entered the Salvation Army shelter.

Miss Owsley commented later: "Her appearance was very poor. She seemed to have been living in railroad stations."

The cousin said Dorothy explained her presence in New York by saying she was on a shopping tour and planned to return to Mt. Holyoke that night.

25-Penny Theft Nets 25 Jail Days

Nabbed in the act of pilfering pennies from a stack of newspapers in Peabody sq., Thomas J. Berry, 52, of Hobart st., Danvers, 215-pound factory engineer, was sentenced to jail today—one day for each of the 25 pennies he stole.

After a newsboy had complained money was disappearing from his stack of papers, Patrolman Joseph Fleming placed 25 marked pennies on the pile, then hid in a near-by doorway until he spotted Berry helping himself.

Berry was sentenced to the Salem jail by Judge Daniel C. Manning of the Peabody court.

What is your GUESS on our profits....

SOMETIMES, although an idea is wrong, it does no harm. Like the idea that a square jaw is the sign of will power. That winters aren't as severe as they used to be, or that red hair denotes quick temper.

But there are other wrong ideas, which are definitely harmful to public confidence in and understanding of industry. One such idea is the current "guessing" about profits made by large business organizations.

Many people are apt to grossly exaggerate the money made by business. So Opinion Research Corporation (an independent organization) made a survey to learn just what the public thinks about profits. Compare these guesses and yours with the International Harvester profit figures given below.

Public guess on war profits.....30.0¢

Harvester four war year average profit.....4.9¢

In this survey, the average of the guesses by the public of the war-time profits made by industry was . . . thirty per cent (30%).

But in the four war years of 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945, the profits of International Harvester Company averaged only . . . 4.9% on sales. Less than one sixth of what the general public "guessed" for all industry.

For this period, the year by year per cent of profits on sales was: 1942—7.34, 1943—5.59, 1944—3.95, 1945—3.93.

Public guess on peace-time profits.....18.0¢

Harvester four pre-war year average profit.....7.17¢

In the four peace years of 1938, 1939, 1940, and 1941, the profits of International Harvester Company averaged . . . 7.17%. This is well under half of what the public "guessed" for all industry.

Majority think fair profit in normal times is.....10¢

International Harvester's ten-year average is less than.....7¢

The survey indicates the public knows that in our economy profits are indispensable. And the majority regard 10% as a fair rate of profit in normal times. Many large businesses, including ourselves, would consider it a banner year if we could reach this figure. Our average profit for the last ten years—four war and six peace—was 6.43%—more than a third less than what the public considers fair.

All these figures show that our profits are not high. As a matter of fact, the entire farm machinery industry is a low profit industry. In 1944, the Federal Trade Commission published a list of 76 industries ranked in order of their ratio of profits to sales. The farm machinery industry was 57th on the list.

What About Current IH Prices?

When the War ended and we planned our peace-time production, we had hoped to be able to serve our farmer customers at the same level which has held since 1942, regardless of war-time increases in costs of wages and materials up to that time. But recent developments have forced a change in our plans.

Wages and materials consume nearly all of every dollar Harvester takes in from sales. A Government board has recommended and the Company has agreed to pay a general wage increase of 18 cents per hour for Harvester factory employees. The Government has also allowed price increases on raw materials which we purchase in large quantities. Steel has had an average increase of 8.2%.

There has been no general increase in our prices since they were frozen by the Government early in 1942.

So our situation today is that what we BUY costs us 1946 prices. We will be paying average hourly wages 56% above 1941. For what we SELL we get only 1942 prices. This condition cannot long be met out of our present low rate of profit.

Future Prices on IH Products

It is plain that price relief will be needed to meet the increased wage and material costs which we must carry.

We regret this necessity. We prefer to lower prices, when possible, rather than raise them and we know our customers prefer to have us do that. We had hoped to be able to "hold the line," at least.

But we do not see how we can avoid operating at a loss if our prices continue to remain at their present frozen levels. We will NOT "cut corners" on any of our products, because QUALITY IS THE FOUNDATION OF OUR BUSINESS.

Our customers can be certain that we will seek no more than a moderate profit, both because of our policies and because we have approximately 300 competitors fighting us vigorously for your business. Our request for price relief will be no more than is necessary to insure continued service to our customers, continued work for our employees, and a reasonable return for our stockholders.

Mayor of Cork To Visit Boston

Lord Mayor Michael Sheehan, of Cork, Eire, who plans a trip to Boston next week, arrived today at LaGuardia airport aboard a Pan-American Airways Constellation plane on his first visit to the United States.

The 47-year-old Lord Mayor left New York to visit a brother near Buffalo and will make his headquarters there during the three or four weeks he hopes to pass in this country.

He was met at the airport by his brother , Patrick, and a sister, Miss Mary Sheehan, a Chicago nurse, whom he had not seen in many years.

The Lord Mayor, elected last June under Cork's Plan E form of government, has been renominated by the Business Party for the coming June elections. He had served several years as a councilor in Cork's Plan E government.

There's never a question about results

when you switch to Electric Cooking!

For food at its best, cook it electrically! Electric cooking retains natural food juices and vitamins instead of cooking them away.

So besides being more delicious, electric cooking is also more nutritious!

This is only one of MANY reasons why you do your family a favor when you switch to electric cooking. It's wise not to buy ANY kitchen cooking equipment until you investigate the benefits of the electric way.

CLEAN! Electric cooking is just as clean and sootless as electric light! Pots, pans, curtains, walls stay spotless.

DEPENDABLE! The same quick, easy dial setting always gives you the same cooking temperature. You're sure of results!

ECONOMICAL! You cook on "stored" heat much of the time. And then too, electric cooking saves (not wastes) all the delicious, nourishing food juices and vitamins.

MODERN! More and more women are recognizing the fact that clean, fast, dependable electricity is the favored cooking method of this new era in homemaking.

There's an electrical future ahead... and BOSTON EDISON wants to help you make the most of it

Paging Mr. Bowles

On March 24th, Chester Bowles, Director, Office of Economic Stabilization, said, in THE NEW YORK TIMES:

> "The heads of the National Association of Manufacturers . . . tell us that under price ceilings goods will not be made. . . . If any person reading this article knows of any instance where price controls are actually holding up production, I hope he will . . . give me the facts."

Here, Mr. Bowles, are some of the facts you asked for, as reported by leaders of American industries, in the "Roll Call on Production" broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System last Tuesday:

MEAT

✓ "As a direct result of OPA regulations, legitimate meat packers are producing substantially less meat of all kinds than normally. Industrial surveys in representative cities from coast to coast show most consumers in those areas are paying black market penalties of about 20 cents on each dollar's worth of meat they buy. The whole trouble is that OPA regulations are unworkable. What is needed is for Congress to do away entirely with all OPA meat and livestock regulations so that consumers again may get the kind of meat they want, when they want it, at a fair competitive price."

WESLEY HARDENBERGH, President,
American Meat Institute, Chicago, Ill.

UNDERWEAR

✓ "An estimate from figures compiled all over the entire country shows the manufacturers of summer and winter underwear are only producing about 60 per cent of their normal output of essentially needed underwear items. OPA has forced manufacturers, generally, to discontinue low-priced items . . . OPA policies make it impossible for manufacturers to intelligently plan the operation of their plants and this can only mean continued low production."

EDWARD J. ASHE, Executive Vice-President,
Standard Knitting Mills, Knoxville, Tenn.

MEN'S SUITS

✓ "Production has been retarded on account of the determination of OPA to enforce the absorption of very considerable wage increases, without adequate relief in selling prices.

"Government efforts to stimulate production of low-priced suits by granting priorities have largely failed.

"Our greatest need is more production and less control, and unless the maximum average price regulation is eliminated, the present scarcity of suits will continue."

BERTRAM J. CAHN, President,
B. Kuppenheimer, Inc., Chicago, Ill.

HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCES

✓ "We have had confusion where we should have had production. This chaotic price situation still forces many manufacturers in this field to produce at a loss or not to produce at all. The prompt elimination of price control would rapidly increase the production of household appliances."

HOWARD E. BLOOD, President, Norge Division,
Borg-Warner Corp., Detroit, Mich.

BUTTER

✓ "Butter production is now at the lowest level in 25 years because OPA keeps butter prices 20 per cent below other dairy products. Consumers are being robbed by the black market. OPA price controls are restricting production, that is why you can't find butter."

L. E. HURTZ, President,
The Fairmont Creamery Co., Omaha, Neb.

RADIOS

✓ "Home radio receivers . . . have been in low supply for lack of those parts that go to make up a radio receiver, manufactured mainly by specialty companies. And this shortage is due to low price ceilings . . . the OPA does not permit to be included in the selling prices the actual cost increases realized by the manufacturers . . . Here we are eight months after V-J Day and in those eight months, my own company has made only as many radio sets as we should have made in each of those eight months . . . the industry had a very easy reconversion job to do and by this time the market should have been flooded with radio receivers."

R. C. COSGROVE, Vice Pres. and Gen. Manager,
Crosley Corp., Cincinnati, Ohio
President: Radio Manufacturers Association

ISN'T THIS THE ANSWER? NAM has said: Remove price controls on manufactured goods and production will step up fast. In a survey of a representative cross section of NAM membership, 97% find price controls are hampering production. Remove these controls and goods will pour into the market. Within a reasonable time, prices will adjust themselves naturally—as they always do when production goes up—in line with the real worth of things . . . This is the way you can get the goods you want at prices you can afford to pay.

'Big Red House' Man Gets 2 Yrs.

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—John Porter Monroe, who figured in a congressional investigation as the owner of the "big red house on R street" in Washington, was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $100,000 in federal court today on charges of textile ceiling price violation.

Monroe, who changed his name from Monroe Kaplan, was convicted March 29 by a federal court jury. The government contended his activities netted him several hundred thousand dollars during a few months.

Monroe, who attended West Point in 1918 and was a reserve captain in the Army, stood at rigid attention as he was sentenced.

Louis B. Goodspeed, Fish Firm Head, Dies

NEW GAS TAX OPPOSED

The Massachusetts Mayors' Ass'n and the State Grange today opposed before the legislative committee on taxation a bill to impose an additional one-cent excise tax on gasoline, the money to be distributed to cities and towns for public works. Supporting the measure were the Essex County commissioners and the Massachusetts Farm Bureau.

OUTRAGEOUS

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE have been genuinely shocked by the disclosure in the Hearst newspapers that thousands of sick or disabled war veterans requiring hospital care must be PAUPERS in order to obtain it.

It is an amazing but inescapable fact that the Government of the United States, which has built up a public debt of three hundred billion dollars through lavish expenditure for the benefit of foreign nations and in behalf of its own partisan political interests, limits the hospitalized war veteran in certain circumstances to an income of TWENTY-SIX CENTS A DAY.

That is the total compensation the Government will pay a veteran during all the weeks or months or years he is a patient in a government hospital if he has no dependents, and if his sickness or disability is not service-ordered.

IF THE HOSPITALIZED VETERAN WITHOUT DEPENDENTS SUFFERS FROM SICKNESS OR DISABILITIES ACTUALLY INCURRED IN THE SERVICE OF HIS COUNTRY, INCLUDING COMBAT, THE MOST HIS PINCH-PENNY GOVERNMENT WILL PAY HIM FROM THE TIME HE ENTERS THE HOSPITAL UNTIL HE LEAVES IT—NO MATTER HOW MANY WEEKS OR MONTHS OR YEARS ARE THUS SPANNED—IS SIXTY-EIGHT CENTS A DAY.

IT IS NOT ENOUGH for the American people to be shocked by such a disclosure.

The law which sets up this rule of PAUPERISM for the hospitalization of war veterans is not a new law. It came into being in 1933 as one of the so-called "Economy" Acts of the first administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That and the succeeding New Deal Administrations never pretended interest in economy, WITH THE SOLITARY EXCEPTION OF THIS DISCRIMINATORY RULE AGAINST VETERANS.

Before the recent war, the New Deal squandered many billions of dollars to perpetuate itself in power.

During the war it poured out many more billions of dollars in Lend-Lease to nations all over the world, most of them utterly and admittedly unable to repay and none of them willing to repay or expected to do so.

ANLY IN THE CARE OF OUR OWN AMERICAN WAR VETERANS, PARTICULARLY THE SICK AND DISABLED, HAS THE NEW DEAL SHOWN ANY DISPOSITION TO TIGHTEN UP THE PURSE STRINGS OF PUBLIC EXPENDITURE.

It has always paid its political debts out of the public purse.

Even prisoners of war taken by American forces in the course of the war have fared better and been paid more in compensation than the American fighting man who came out of the conflict in shattered health.

"NO GRAVER injustice has been done to the men with war-shattered bodies than that of pauperizing them while being treated for their wounds and disabilities," charges National Commander Dow V. Walker of the Disabled American Veterans' Organization.

"These men still suffer from the AGONIES of war," says Colonel John Thomas Taylor, national legislative director of the American Legion, "and to hold back from them, during the long months or years they must spend in hospitals, the compensation they earned defending their country, is both UNJUST and CRUEL."

"A Congress and Administration which has been so liberal with additional compensation for some elements of industry and labor should give FIRST thought to those men who shed their blood and gave their health for the nation," declares Commander-in-Chief Joseph M. Stack of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It is TIME for the American people to be shocked by this incredible disclosure.

A NEIGHBOR'S DOG sneaked up on our pup today and tried to chew one of his ears apart. It was the same old story. Cherchez la femme. Seems our dog is friendly with a certain cocker spaniel female around the corner and this has enraged some of his canine rivals. Our dog is a peaceful, genial fellow. It is too bad he has to have his ears chewed by envious and jealous animals. Is it his fault the lady dogs fall for him? Can he be blamed because he is a kind of a canine Gregory Peck?

SIDELIGHTS: Since I have been keeping my watch ten minutes fast I haven't been late to an appointment, the start of a show or missed a first race . . . "Tell me who Jimmy Michaels was or hand over a Wheeling stogie," writes a Morgantown, W. Va., subscriber. Jimmy Michaels was a champion professional bicycle rider. Not a six-day race rider but a performer in sprints on high speed saucer-shaped tracks, tracks. I'll take a Pittsburgh stogie.

ANOTHER VEGETARIAN: Now the world has another famous vegetarian. This is Alfred, Great Britan's famous gorilla, now living in captivity at the Bristol, Eng. zoo. Alfred, who is 17 years old and weighs 462 pounds, recently suffered from a stomach ache. As a remedy he was given five pints of beer, two pounds of leeks, eight ounces of figs, eight ounces of liquid paraffin and two pints of hard cider. This cured Alfred's stomach ache. But he has been put on a vegtarian diet for an indefinite period.

PASSING BY: Bill Robinson, Dean of tap dancers. Now 66 years old, Bill is a member in good standing of the Quaint Breakfast Eaters' Club. His morning meal which he has not varied in years consists of a quart of vanilla ice cream and a half a dozen hot biscuits . . . Gypsy Rose Lee. The scholarly chanteuse has temporarily abandoned her literary career, once more to present the type of dancing act that made her famous. Miss Lee will, as usual, sing while dancing, but hasn't decided whether to warble "Comin' Thru the Rye," "The Last Rose of Summer" or "Ida, the Bashful Sturgeon."

MOMENTS OF HARDSHIP: So your daughter wants to be an actress? Be certain to impress upon her, that while the rewards of stage and screen success are great, the life of an actress is not without its moments of hardship. For example, consider the following statement recently made by Maureen O'Hara: "Love scenes always embarrass me. No matter how many I play, I never get used to them. But when I was called upon to bite John Payne it flustered me more than any of the others.

Maureen O'Hara

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—A stogie says you can't state what Ed Corrigan's racing colors were. A—You win. But I remember what "Father Bill" Daly's racing colors were; all red, green cap . . . Q—The use of "Mrs." reveals a woman is married, but the "Mr." before a man's name is no guide as to whether he is a husband or a bachelor. Why isn't something done about this? A—Perhaps you are right. What do you suggest married men should use instead of the "Mr.?" And how about widows and divorcees? Maybe there should be something instead of "Mrs." preceding their name so it will be known they are back in circulation.

ASIDES: One of my favorite desserts is apple dumplings. Why is this delightful dessert so rarely listed on restaurant menus? . . . "What are the six liveliest small towns in the United States?" asks a U. S. Marine sergeant. I haven't been to all the small towns in the country, but I believe the list the sergeant requests should include Reno and Las Vegas, Nev.; Allentown, Pa., and Charles Town, W. Va.

HAIR-DOS: Am about to purchase a candid camera. I am going to use it to take pictures of hair-dos. That is, my girl friend's hair-dos. She is still asking me: "Do you like my hair this way or do you like the way I had it last fall better?" I can't remember how she had it last fall. However, my candid camera system will remedy this. Every time she changes her hair-do I will take a picture of her and date it.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WALLACE SHERLOCK, the editor of the Fairfield, Ia., Daily Ledger, composed a poetic editorial essay recently to which this is a reply and a sequel.

Westbrook Pegler

From some misinformed source, Mr. Sherlock had heard of a sad occasion in a beautiful room in a fine hotel in New York at which a number of young American soldiers, blinded in the war, were entertained by pretty girls, whose loveliness was lost to them, and by others, including me.

"Grim-faced," is the way Mr. Sherlock described me, with what accuracy I do not know, yet, "Look, he is shedding scalding tears of sympathy."

"When we were a teen-aged boy," Mr. Sherlock wrote, "we became the owner of a saddle that had belonged to a cowboy who had fought with Sheridan at Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek. Crudely etched on the pommel were these words:

"'A sword's real worth
Is in its flawless steel.
A man's true worth
Is in his power to feel.'

"These lines may be children of the fertile brain of Charley Vertrees, the cowboy, or they may be the lines of some master. They are true. The man who can-feel-for his fellow has true worth in his heart. Many are the times this writer loses patience with Westbrook Pegler. He writes paragraphs a block wide and sentences a mile long. We have to chop them up into shorter ones so we, as well as our readers, can understand them. But any man who can shed sympathetic tears must have a sacred source tucked away in his inmost soul. We will try not to become peeved when we read his copy for the Ledger tomorrow."

MAY I SAY that Mr. Sherlock's informa was mistaken, that I was not present at the gathering described and that those who cry dry are no less sensitive than those who weep wet.

I am never suspicious of persons who weep openly and moistly when moved by woe, but I must recall a period when lawyers in criminal practice bawled heart-rendingly for defendant rascals in court and preened themselves on their art over corned beef and cabbage and rye, straight, in the saloon across the street during recess or after court.

On the other hand, I have a plain memory of English fathers and mothers down at Charing Cross to see their little, pink-faced teen-age subaltern sons off to France with not so much as a blink but only smiles and (a final) "Cheerio" and an answering "Toodle-oo Mater and Pater," as the train pulled away.

DISCUSSING a mutual friend one day with a great writer who had done some beautiful lines of pathos, I told him that our friend's wife had died a few weeks before.

"Yeah?" he said. "Well, she was a lot of expense. Nurses and doctors all the time. And there was the anxiety, too."

There is a strange cliche among us Americans which holds that open tears are unmanly and yet admires them extravagantly in uncouth, rugged types such as Eugene Field's three-fingered Hoover who could brave the storms and wilds "but any child could rend apart."

The same quirk regards as worthy of pointed remark, usually facetious, the fact that a masculine man should be fond of flowers and even send himself flowers at his hotel room, when he is on the road, to brighten the standardized dreariness of his cell.

We also think it admirable that a man should sympathize with the under-dog and I once crossed up my friend Hugh Johnson along of this.

Coincidence would have it that on a day when he wrote a very generous piece about me and said that I was ever on the side of the under-dog I wrote one noisily repudiating this fallacy and pointing out that if Hitler should ever be the under-dog I would be rooting for the top-dog.

WHILE TEARS may be honored as a true expression of deep feeling, their absence is no more to be regarded as evidence of heartlessness than, in our courts, the failure of a defendant to take the stand may be noted by the prosecution as a suggestion of guilt.

I lately heard a story of a peon whose wife had died and whose friend, Pedro, said: "Juan, your grief was magnificent."

"Si, gracias, Pedro," Juan said. "Where did you saw me?"

"I saw you to the church."

"Oh, you should have saw me to the cemetery. I raised hell down there."

Hollywood

By Dorothy Manners
Substituting for Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 18—Hello, now. Here we go again—me trying to pinch hit for the one and only Louella and you being patient until our girl friend is back on the job.

The big news today is that Cary Grant and Shirley Temple will be teamed by RKO in "Bachelor and Bobby-Sox," a romantic original written by Sidney Sheldon and a perfect setup for Cary and Shirley. It's about a bobby - soxer who falls head over heels for a visiting artist who is in love with her older sister. It gets so bad that they call in a psychiatrist to try to handle the bobby-soxer, for you know as well as I do that we're making no movies in Hollywood today without a psychiatrist somewhere in the plot.

Shirley Temple

This isn't one of those long-delayed deals, either. The picture starts June 10 with Dore Schary producing and Irving Reis directing. Both Schary and Shirley were borrowed from David Selznick.

ALL THE KIDS who are swoony over Rory Calhoun, just from photographs in fan magazines and two very small roles on the screen, will get a chance to see if the boy's really got it. There was talk that his boss, David Selznick, was keeping him under wraps, to spring in a picture of his own—but Sol Lesser talked a fast game of borrowing Rory for one of the top roles with Lon McCallister and Eddie G. Robinson in "The Red House." The fact that Rory used to run around a bit with Lana Turner didn't hurt his publicity buildup and neither did the fact that he was originally discovered by Alan Ladd. After hitching his wagon to a couple of stars, he's now on his own.

LADY THELMA FURNESS is in a New York hospital for observation, and Eddie Lowe, who is her constant escort in Hollywood, is torn between concern for her and excitement over his new stage show, "Mary Had a Little"—and that's the title, s'help me. It's a high farce which opens in San Francisco in July with Al Rosen producing. If it goes as big as Rosen's former hit, "Goodnight, Ladies," which ran for over two years in Chicago alone, Eddie won't be free to be making many movies for a long time.

J. CARROLL NAISH can't complain that he's getting in a rut. After almost winning an Oscar for his dramatics in "A Medal for Benny" he's now taking ballet lessons for "Carnival in Costa Rica" and will participate in a couple of hot adagios. Mr. N., complete with ballet slippers, now looks furtively from side to side as he crosses the 20th lot.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The bachelors are completely stealing the Hollywood social spotlight — and something's got to be done about it! The famous "cad's party" hosted by Cary Grant, Jimmy Stewart, Eddy Duchin and Johnny McClain was THE social event of the year and now Walter Kane and Johnny McClain are giving a "stag" in honor of St. Clair McKelway with every attractive male in town on the guest list and not a single belle invited to the Beverly Hills Club for the formal event! Then Charlie Morrison bought two dozen John Frederics and Kenneth Hopkins hats to give away to Easter charmers at the Mocambo next Sunday. Ladies, please! No ideas?

WHEN MRS. PERRY COMO called Bing Crosby to thank him for getting her small son, Ronald, into St. John's Military Academy, she asked Bing how he was getting along. "The competition is getting so stiff among us crooners," he told her, "that I would appreciate it if you could see your way clear to slipping your husband a bad gargle one of these days."

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Bob Waterfield planed out to meet Jane Russell in Chicago for their third wedding anniversary; Freddy Bartholomew's grandmother, who is past 80, is seriously ill and has been almost from the time his engagement was announced; the passing of popular John Le Roy Johnston was a sad loss to Hollywood, where Johnny was one of the best loved of the press agents. His death was very sudden, following a short attack of pneumonia; Kay Francis' constant escort in Chicago is Dr. William Kroger; Marian Nixon and Bill Seiter unveiled their Valley home at a small dinner party that had Gracie Allen, George Burns, Claire Trevor, Connie Moore, Sally Eilers and Sue and Alan Ladd "ahhing" over the beautiful place. Marian surprised everyone by admitting that Bill Haines had "done" it all. That's a novelty in itself, what with most hostesses insisting every idea is her own—even when Bill Haines', Tom Douglas', Harold Grieve's or Rita Lowe's fingerprints are still fresh on the woodwork.

IF NANCY BRUFF was irritated because M-G-M was supposedly keeping her brainchild, "The Manatee," on the shelf, she's going to be even more miffed to learn they haven't bought it at all; Burgess Meredith will narrate the five-minute prologue to "Duel in the Sun"—haven't you heard anything about that picture?; Ben Blue, Patti Moore and Ben Lessy opened Tuesday night at Chez Paree in Chicago straight from Slapsy Maxie's in Hollywood; Ray Milland gets his tootsies printed at Grauman's Chinese Friday—one of the few Para actors so honored. Most of the forecourt is imprinted with 20th and M-G-M "footliners" because the Chinese is the home of their pictures. That's all today. Were you expecting "Forever Amber?"

Boston After Dark

TIP TO BOSTON GIRLS ambitious to be models: Harry Conover, one of the leading model-masters, will be at the Copley Plaza May 10 . . . He and Miss Madelynne Mason, who won the title "Miss Photogenic" at an earlier Boston Press Photographers frolic, will be present as honor guests of this year's event . . . Harry Gallant, the Boston international pilot, will steer one of the Kentucky Derby flights which Davis Airways is scheduling . . . At least two sections will leave Logan Airport the morning of Saturday, May 4, and each plane will carry 21 passengers . . . The passengers will be returned to Boston the same night.

HERE'S SOMETHING FOR UN (formerly UNO): Amity between America and Great Britain is all but perfect, but until the difference existing for years in the English race-horse stud books and those of this country is eased, a segment of the two populations will be at loggerheads . . . Britain's General Stud Book declines to recognize the stud books of any other country . . . In America alone, however, the horse-breeding industry is large enough for this patronizing custom to engender ill feeling . . . All British thoroughbreds are descended from three English horses . . . But most of America's great race horses are descendants of other progenitors . . . In all countries, the Britain General Stud Book is recognized a sort of ultra-Blue Book, or Sgeal Register on which outlanders have no chance to intrude . . . Our native breeders now think that something drastic must be done to include American race-horses in the British registery . . . They favor a reciprocal move which will bar British nags from being registered in American Jockey Club and stud book lists . . . This will have an effect on the price paid for British horses, as the United States is the most profitable export market.

SPEAKING OF HORSES—The instance cited here a week ago of I. K. (Ike) Mourar of Leominster, a New England owner-trainer who also conducts a breeding (Samoset) farm, is in status quo . . . The good Judge Dooley promised nothing, it is true, in answer to an appeal for stalls for Mourar horses that have been prepped for the races through a long winter season . . . But the good gray judge did extend hope that in event of cancellations Mr. Mourar would be accommodated . . . Has there been none? In view of 'Gansett's publicized policy of taking care of New England owners first, it is difficult to understand the lack of a few barns for a bona-fide New Englander while a trainer with a dubious record and one suspension for alleged stimulation of horses can be housed nicely—with tack, and equipment and more than four times as many head as the modest Mr. Mourar asks space for . . . The records tell all about him . . . In the newspaper files . . . And in our memory.

PERHAPS this welcome stranger from the hard-boot country has cleared himself satisfactorily . . . Perhaps, also, New England is not an ideal site for breeding race-horses . . . If it isn't, why would it not be a good idea to soft-pedal the annual applications of baloney and bunk about "encouraging the improvement of the thoroughbred in dear old New England?" . . . Or of staging races for "New England owners and breeders only." . . . The peculiar angle of Mourar's failure to win space at 'Ganset is that he actually is trying to breed horses here in Massachusetts . . . His friends know one thing about him, and that is that his methods of improving the breed, or attempting so to do, do not contain the opportunistic tactics of applying stimulants.

ONE BOOKMAKER is offering 6 to 5 that the number of Red Sox batters who hit .300 or better will be fewer than five (that is four or less) . . . in 100 games or more, of course . . . The same price was offered against Ted Williams batting .350 or higher . . . This price-maker, incidentally, is a nut on "figures," and his own private rundown, compiled by consultation with "experts", exempts every Sox player (including Doerr and Pesky) from being "sure" .300 hitters this season . . . He would seem to be taking a gamble, nonetheless . . . Doerr and Pesky would seem to be normal candidates for the select .300 class . . . Conceding the presence of Teddy the Kid on this list, and granting that Pesky and Doerr have excellent chances to make it, the better against the bookmaker would have York and DiMaggio going for him as strong prospects for slipping over the .300 mark. (Please do not request this column to act as intermediary with the chance-taking bookie. We wouldn't know where to find him.)

NEW YORK, April 18—Life is simple for some girls—especially some pretty ones. Gail Meredith, the lissome blonde singer at the Embassy Club, is wearing a five-carat diamond ring and she doesn't even know who gave it to her. A handsome fellow just walked up to her the other night said: "Take this; I'm going to Boston," and departed. She hasn't seen or heard from him since and she says she never set her beautiful eyes on him before in her life . . . The Russians apparently are adaptable. Reporters killing time in front of the Russian consulate asked Gromyko's chauffeur, Nicholas, if he missed his vodka. "Vodka?" shrugged Nicholas. "Seh, geeve me a malted!" . . . A leading public opinion fact-finding agency took a secret poll recently to determine how great a percentage of the country's confidence President Truman enjoys. The result was surprisingly low . . . A famous but aging dramatic star is offering Broadway producers $50,000 if they'll star her in a show.

Duchess of Windsor

THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR and the Paris couturiers are enjoying a feud. It resulted when the dressmakers failed to give Her Highness a "special price" on the little numbers she ordered . . . Huntington Hartford's mother is seriously ill in Washington . . . P. G. Wodehouse is reportedly peddling a radio script . . . Chicago will be the next big city to front-page a gambling and night club cleanup. They'll make as much noise as the N. Y. authorities have been making recently . . . New automobiles are being delivered with a payment of from $500 to $1000 "under the table" as the boys put it . . . It took half the stagehands at the local musical to pull an irate husband off the star of the show—who is the love interest of the irked gentleman's pretty wife on stage. Saturday night, this was.

Washington Scene

By George Dixon

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON, April 18—Mr. Dave Sentner, the eminent political writer, came in the other day holding a statistical survey of the permutations and combinations of possible consequences of equines exerting their theoretical optimum capacity for goaded acceleration, sometimes called a racing scratch sheet, and said:

Sen. Tydings

"When you next go to New York, you will have to spend a lot of time visiting shut-ins. Most of your pals will be in jail."

I said that would be nice because I had just read the Congressional cook book and learned to bake the loveliest pie with rope and hacksaw-blade filling, but why would any more of my pals be in jail at this time than usual?

"Because of their reading habits," said Mr. Sentner. "The New York police have been instructed to make arrests when two or more people are found on the streets perusing a racing sheet."

"But there is nothing illegal about possessing a racing sheet," I protested. "It is perhaps not good literary taste—present company excepted—but, my goodness, if they pinched everyone carrying a scratch sheet they would have half the country's leading tycoons in the can, including former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, all the Whitneys, Wideners and Vanderbilts, and even Herbert Bayard Swope, and you know perfectly well they do not make jail cells elegant enough to satisfy Mr. Swope."

"It is not possession of the sheet they are grabbing people for," said Mr. Sentner. "It is for standing around reading it. They are collaring them under the disorderly conduct law, claiming that when two or more gather to read one of these things they constitute a mob or an unlawful assembly.

"But," added Mr. Sentner, looking around furtively as if a New York policeman might be hiding back of our pile of old Congressional Records, "it is my confidential opinion that this is a legal subterfuge. What I really think they are trying to do is suppress gambling."

I told Mr. Sentner I was heartily in favor of this because gambling on horses is pernicious, and besides sometimes you don't win. Mr. Sentner said he had often felt that way himself.

"But I will tell you something," he said, darkly. "If ever I am reading a scratch sheet and dope out a 100 to 1 shot and a copper grabs me before I can get down the bet, I will sue Mayor O'Dwyer for recovery. I will sue him for the city's last penny at closing mutuel odds."

I NEXT TOOK UP the matter with Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland whose State is often called the home of horse racing, although Kentucky will give you an argument. Said Senator Tydings:

"Speaking as a representative of the great State of Maryland with its noble traditions, I approve of this move. The greatest drawbacks to serious study of a racing sheet are the constant interruptions from persons claiming to have superior information. But if you are in jail you will have plenty of time to concentrate, thereby selecting horses with true mathematical certainty, even if they fail to come in the same way.

"I may also say," continued Senator Tydings, "that this move is in keeping with the finest traditions of New York city. Everybody there is violently opposed to gambling. That is why no one ever patronizes the Stock Exchange, why there is no such thing as the numbers racket, and why it is impossible to get bookers for shows.

"I know there has been talk in the past about numbers kings, such as Dutch Schultz, but they were unquestionably mythical characters. And I am reasonably sure no one in the city would read a scratch sheet because I hear they are not always reliable. In fact, I have heard it said that they sometimes contain a measure of misrepresentation, almost amounting to a libel on the horse.

"In any event it should be easy to stop horse gambling in New York because people only go to the tracks to see the horses. They will tell you it is a sublime spectacle, full of light and color, and that any effort to interfere with it in any way would constitute an attack on the nation's intellectual grandeur."

I WILL CONFESS that many of the sonorous phrases employed by Senator Tydings were over my head, but I sort of got the idea he was being sarcastic.

Stage Stars to Fete Youthful Orators

By BERT FORD

Artists whose names are known throughout the nation on screen, radio and in night club circles will provide a scintillating program of entertainment for visiting students in the eastern zone finals here in the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States."

These finals will be held Wednesday in Boston Latin School, and the visitors will meet in oratorical battle with the local Boston winners, in what is expected to be the most closely contested demonstration of eloquence since this patriotic enterprise was established four years ago.

Winners in the eastern zone finals will be eligible for national finals on May 2, also to be held at Boston Latin School auditorium.

Master of ceremonies during the zone finals program will be Ranny Weeks, popular band leader and maestro at the Hotel Somerset, and recently discharged from the Navy with the rank of lieutenant-commander. Music will be furnished by Ruby Newman's band.

Stars of the show will include Georgie Price, America's top song stylist, now at the Hotel Bradford roof; Frances Faye, famed blues singer and dynamic pianist, who will be appearing at the Club Mayfair next week; Pat Rooney, Jr., of the world-famous family of the Dancing Rooneys, who is now a star at the Gay Nineties, and Marion Mulhall, the popular and talented songbird at the Music Box.

Other star entertainers for this occasion will be announced later. The program will also include the Girls' High School Glee Club of 80 voices, conducted by Joseph H. Gildea, assistant director of music in the Boston public schools, with piano accompaniment by Edward Illingworth.

The Glee Club will sing with pride, as a selection of special significance to the gathering, "To Thee, O Country," composed by Julius Eichberg, who once taught music at Girls' High School. The words were written by the composer's daughter, Miss Anya P. Eichberg.

The song was specially arranged for Girls' High School chorus, and has been a musical tradition of the school. Other selections will include: "Cherubim Song," by Tchaikowsky; "Ave Maria," by Bottazzo, and "O Turn Thee," by Gounod. Soloist will be Theresa Zeuli. The Glee Club is under supervision of Louis A. McCoy, headmaster of the school.

Other entertainment for the eastern zone visiting students will include a banquet on the evening of their arrival next Tuesday at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

On the following day they will be received at the State House by Gov. Tobin and at City Hall by Mayor Curley, and there will be a tour of Boston's historic points of interest, as well as a trip to the famed battlegrounds of Concord and Lexington.

Tiny Poppy Seller Kisses Truman

WASHINGTN, April 18 (AP)—Four-year-old Betty Lou Hall made news today by kissing President Truman after selling him the first buddy poppy of the 1946 campaign.

The President smiled broadly as Betty Lou kissed him on the cheek.

"That's news," commented Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's military aide. "It's usually the politician who kisses the baby."

Betty Lou is the daughter of author Alvin Hall, infantryman killed in action in Europe in December, 1944. She made the trip to Washington from the Veterans of Foreign Wars' National Home for Widows and Orphans of ex-servicemen in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

The VFW conducts the poppy sale annually to raise relief work funds.

NEWBURYPORT, April 18—pentant after a suicide attempt, Miss Gertrude Flanagan, 29, of Fifth st., East Cambridge, today pleaded guilty in district court to a disorderly charge and asked she be sent to Danvers State Hospital for 10 days of observation.

Judge James F. Carens, after conferring with the girl and her parents, dismissed the charge.

Miss Flanagan was arrested when found shoulder-deep in the surf at Salisbury Beach. Police said she had given up her suicide plan because the water was too cold.

She assertedly explained she was disgusted and disillusioned with life.

NO LONGER NEEDS DAILY LAXATIVE

Famous Cereal Brings Constipation Relief

Constipated? A slave to harsh laxatives? Read this sincere, unsolicited letter. It may bring you the help you need!

"No one knows better than I how wonderful KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is. Before I started eating it regularly every morning, I had to take laxatives almost every day. But now, take my word for it, I never take such medicines." Mrs. F. G. MacDaniel, Route 1, Box 370, Abbeville, La.

Think of it! You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, if you eat one ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. Do this for ten days, and then if not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. You will get double your money back! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome cereal providing gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Eat it as a cereal or in muffins every day.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Compensation Cut, Vets Flee Hospitals

By DAN MARKEL

WASHINGTON, April 18—Over the hill FROM the poorhouse! That is the course thousands of sick, maimed, disabled veterans are taking to escape from impoverishment in veterans' hospitals.

In these hospitals all veterans without recognized dependents receive no more than $20 and as little as $8 of their monthly disability compensation, earned only through war and battle sacrifice.

Their government for which they fought keeps the rest. It is taken from the veteran by law, a law misnamed an "economy act" passed by Congress early in the New Deal administration.

Outside a veterans hospital, sick and wounded veterans receive their compensation.

The result is that a startling number go "over the hill." Unlike members of the armed forces, every patient in a veterans hospital has this right.

VA officials revealed today that 41.9 per cent of all tubercular patients who left veterans hospitals in 1945 did so "against medical advice" or "without leave."

World War II tubercular patients who took this course in one month ran as high as 52 per cent.

"Back in their home communities they present a potential health hazard," a VA spokesman admitted.

Fifteen per cent plus of all neuropsychiatric patients who absent themselves from veterans hospitals where they were under treatment or care go "against medical advice" or AWOL. For general medical and surgical cases, the percentage is 8.5.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—We have a very limited amount of space. What vegetables will give us the greatest return?

A—For small gardens vegetables should be selected in the following order: Tomatoes with lettuce as a companion crop. Carrots, beets for roots and greens and swiss chard.

Q—About how early can we expect to harvest peas planted April 15?

A—Peas take from 8 to 10 weeks to produce a crop ready for the table.

Q—How long will the growing season last in the Boston area?

A—For hardy crops the growing season runs from about April 15 to Oct. 15, for tender crops, May 20 to Sept. 20. These are only average dates and will vary according to your location.

Q—Will it pay for us to try to save our own seed?

A—No. Unless you have a strain which you cannot buy at your seedsman. Unless you select seed carefully at home the strain runs out.

Q—Can carrots and beets be grown on sod land?

A—Yes. Be sure that the sod is well covered and no grass allowed to break through. These crops are heavy feeders, so you must supply extra fertilizer.

Q—How long can home grown potatoes be used after they start to sprout?

A—Sprouting does not harm the potato until the sprouts get quite large. Then the tuber shrivels. To prevent this, rub off the sprouts.

This is the second in a series of dinner dances planned especially for younger club members. This is the annual affair to benefit Children's Hospital and at which donors of household articles and clothing set the sale price on their contributions and receive half the profits.

Betty Kay

When donations begin to pour in to the Art Club the two days preceding the sale a large and efficient receiving committee will be on duty to tabulate and sort the articles, which already include riding boots, chafing dishes, paintings and Italian carved chairs. GOLDEN-HAIRED Betty Jean Higgins, co-holder with Lyman Wakefield of the 1945 national pairs championship in figure skating, will be Cinderella in one of the colorful ballets at the Skating Club of Boston's 34th annual ice carnival, April 26-28, at the rink in Brighton. Hugh Nawn, Jr., will skate the part of Prince Charming.

Dudley Richards, national men's novice champ, will also be in the Cinderella fantasy with Nadine Kaler, club junior champion, Jo Barnum, New England novice titleholder and a ballet including Betty Davis, Dianne Catlin, Brenda Conlon, Nancy Conway, Hildegarde and Annamarie Junker, Kay Lindstrom, Ann Waghorne, Ann Watson, Carolyn Welch, Jane Weiss, Mrs. Ruth Flint Fitchet, Marian Barstow and Katharine Blodgett.

Did You Know This ?

"Food Field Reporter" recently reported a severe attack made on candy by a U. S. Senator who introduced a report from his State Dental Society denouncing candy as a cause of tooth decay. The report emphasized that Americans are consuming too much sugar, much of it in the form of candy. They say that sugar, remaining in the mouth, causes dental decay.

We can't say anything against white sugar, but you can read that report in the Congressional Record. We do know that refined sugar does not contain the mineral salts of the original cane.

For candy lovers who wish a delicious tasting candy made from healthful ingredients—without any refined sugar—we have secured the "California Fruit Bar", made entirely from California fruits and wheat germ. In our opinion this is the answer to the problems of those who crave delicious candy, but who want to avoid anything that might be harmful.

The fruits in our "California Fruit Bar" are grown and ripened in the warm California sun and the combination of fruits was carefully worked out to give a delicious flavor that would appeal to all the family.

The fruits in this confection have naturally laxative properties which tend to promote intestinal hygiene and help in the prompt elimination of waste (without drugs). These fruits have a preponderance of alkaline elements which help greatly in maintaining normal neutrality of the blood. They are exceptionally high in energy value, which comes from their content of natural fruit sugars.

Why not try some "California Fruit Bars" today? They're generously large and a real value at 10c each. Why not buy a dozen for $1.15? Money-back GUARANTEE that you'll enjoy them. Sold only at

California Fruit Bars Contain:

RAISINS are rich in fruit sugars which are easily assimilated are rich in mineral elements particularly potassium, and have a decided alkaline reaction on the body. It takes 2½ lbs. of fresh grapes to make 1 lb. of the raisins used in "California Fruit Bars."

CALIF. FIGS The sweet pulp has laxative properties, is rich in mineral constituents and has Vitamins B and G present in small amounts.

CALIF. PEACHES The Franciscan Monks first planted peaches in California around the missions in 1769. They have a fair percentage of Vitamin C and nearly all the essential mineral salts are present.

WHEAT GERM The embryo or regenerative portion of the Wheat berry possesses a sweet nutty flavor, and is the richest part of the wheat in Vitamins. It takes 100 lbs. of whole wheat to make 2 lbs. of wheat germ.

Symphony Will Reopen Berkshires Music Center

A United Nations' enrollment of impressive proportions is building for the Berkshire Music Center, the school for music in performance founded by the Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1940 and directed by Serge Koussevitzky. The center is to be resumed at Tanglewood (in Lenox, Mass.) July 1 and will continue through the Berkshire Festival, which Dr. Koussevitzky will conduct through the last three weeks of the six-week school term.

This morning, the audition for the advanced orchestra, the first local audition, is being held in Symphony Hall. The place and date for the final opera auditions will be announced soon.

Four of the five departments . . . conducting, composing, orchestral, playing and opera . . . are for advanced students. The fifth department, which includes choral singing, chamber music and orchestral playing, offers an opportunity for amateurs and those less advanced in musical training to benefit by singing or playing under expert guidance and to partake in Festival and opera as well as school performances.

The chorus for Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which is to conclude the Festival, will be prepared by Robert Shaw, who will also train a smaller choral group for weekly school concerts. The choral part in Benjamin Britten's "Peter Grimes," which is to have its American premiere at Tanglewood, will be prepared by Hugh Ross. Ross also will have a smaller group to study and perform madrigals. The orchestra in this department will be under the direction of Richard Burgin.

"It's Wonderful Life" Goes Before Camera

Frank Capra's first post-war production, "It's a Wonderful Life," the 26th of his long and distinguished film career and his first for Liberty Films, goes before the cameras this week.

With Capra at the directorial helm, the picture has James Stewart and Donna Reed as stars. Other Capra -Stewart professional associations were represented in the enormously successful "You Can't Take It With You" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

MADAME QUICKLY (Freda Jackson) is deeply perturbed in "Henry V," the Esquire's screen best-seller starring Laurence Olivier, who also produced and directed this Technicolor "photographed play."

He Can Prove It

PITTSBURGH, April 18 (AP)—Cabbie James Urban knew he would need witnesses to this story—because he didn't quite believe it himself.

So he got his two fares to corroborate that he saw two does and a fawn cross Mt. Washington blvd.—busy outlet from Pittsburgh's downtown district—and scramble up a steep hillside.

Cab Calloway at RKO for Week

The King of Hi De Ho himself, who would be Cab Calloway, brings his famous orchestra and an all-star sepia revue for a week's run at the RKO Boston today.

Calloway's history-making musical organization is famed in nightclubs and on stage, screen and radio as tops in jam and jive. Their "Jumpin' Jive," "St. Louis Blues," "I'll Be Around," and "Let's Go, Joe," are among the most popular of recordings and their "Minnie the Moocher" recording is a collector's item.

Calloway received the Negro Actors' Guild Oscar for his performance in "Stormy Weather," which got him a starring role in "Sensations of 1945."

Featured in today's new show are Dotty Saulters, Moke and Doke, Three Poms, Jonah Jones, Tyree Glenn and Milton Hinton and, as an added attraction, the Peter Sisters.

"The Spiral Staircase," the season's thriller, continues for a third and final week on the RKO Boston screen.

Hot Cross Buns for Easter

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

AT EASTER TIME, appetizing aromas drift teasingly from the kitchen. Whatever the occasion, few flavor combinations cause such eager anticipation as fluffy yeast rolls and spices.

The foundation recipe for these Hot Cross Buns is a sweet yeast dough, which keeps well in the refrigerator for two or three days. By making this dough one or two days in advance, last-minute preparations are cut for the holiday meal. Simply remove the amount of dough that is needed from the refrigerator and let rise until doubled. Punch down, shape into the desired number of rolls, and let rise until doubled before baking. Snip the crosses with sharp scissors just before the rolls go into the oven. Then, when they are baked, the confectioners' sugar icing sharpens the outlines of the cross in the buns and adds a sweet touch of goodness. This receipe works out very nicely with Emergency Flour.

At this time, when food saving is more necessary than ever before, avoid leftovers by baking only what is needed at one time. This receipe makes enough dough for three dozen buns or rolls. If the family is small, making one half of this receipe at a time might be advisable

HOT CROSS BUNS

2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry granular
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
⅓ cup shortening 1 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt 2 eggs, beaten
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. allspice
6 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool well. Add spices and enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled. When light, punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into small buns and place on greased baking sheet or in pan. With knife or scissors, cut a small cross in the top of each bun. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. While hot, ice with confectioners' sugar icing, following the cross in the buns. Makes 3 dozen buns.

Entirely New Face Cream

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

IT IS NEITHER SMART nor prudent to wait until the complexion needs serious attention. Protection is as important in beauty care as it is against sickness or accident. Too often we wait until the complexion is in dire need of beautification before we do anything about it . . . and then when the cosmetic at hand doesn't work miracles we get sour on the entire procedure.

Here's an entirely new type of face cream that's the answer to your hope against time's inevitable toll.

It is an intensive cream that softens, smooths and helps refresh the skin. Especially recommended for a thin and mature skin . . . for the delicate areas about the eyes and mouth where tiny surface lines . . . the sabotage of dryness . . . are apt to develop and take firm hold . . . this newest-formula cream is a rich, luxurious emollient that digs into the tissues.

Here is a postwar beauty item that should be as welcome to your face as an automatic washing machine should be to your laundry. For it not only conditions the skin but beautifies it simultaneously. Its purpose is to create a velvety-texture and living radiant complexion.

For the name of this skin for the ageless complexion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, Monday through Saturday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Only Insured Can Make Change

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: A young man, when enlisting in the Navy, applied for National Service Life Insurance. He named his mother and a sister as first and second beneficiaries. He was killed in action and the monthly payments are now being paid to his mother. In the event of his mother's death, will the second beneficiary (his sister) receive the remaining installments? Or can the mother have this policy changed so that the balance of insurance will be divided equally among her children upon her death?

In the above case, the mother has no rights of assignment and cannot name any of the other children as beneficiaries to share and share alike. This assignment can be done only by the insured. If the mother of the insured dies before all payments have been made, the sister would receive the remaining payments.

WAC Now Barred From Enlisting

Is it still possible to enlist in the Women's Army Corps?
Anxious.

New enlistments in the Women's Army Corps are not being accepted. However, both WAC officers and enlisted women are being encouraged to remain in the service beyond their dates of eligibility for separation.

Draped Skirts and Capped Sleeves—Halpert

STOLE-LIKE folds of taffeta give a crisp newness to this black type crepe suit by Joseph Halpert . . . with fullness striking a graceful balance above and below the waistline. The V-neckline of the jacket . . . filled in with a vestee of chartreuse crepe tightly hugging the throat . . . is a softening touch but a striking color contrast. Its trifle longer waistline partially taffeta-tied and smooth jacket and skirt lines show a gentility of fabric manipulation.

SEASON-LESS but strictly new with its tucking released in folds over the shoulder and at the hip is this typically Joseph Halpert tissue navy faille dress . . . a smart, any-hour, any-day body enhancer with boat neckline, cap sleeves and side-rippling drapery from one shoulder and below the waist on one side of the skirt. Here we see an easy easing-up of the silhouette for stunning display by any woman. A pearl-studded belt is its only dramatic relief.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

FAIR and warmer or cool and breezy . . . Easter, 1946, promises more of a fashion story than the "ten best dressed." The main reason is . . . of course . . . that all of us are in the mood to dress up . . . to be as lovely as we know how, now that the boys are back.

"In your Easter bonnet" has true significance this year. Then, too, the variety of costumes such as New York's famed designers . . . those of our interesting series . . . have turned out this Spring . . . makes it a joy to join the parade, whether Main street or the Mall.

Fashion credo . . . for the woman who knows how much one dependable costume means in a wardrobe . . . lies in soundness of construction and gentility of fabric. And at this formula for clothes chic, Joseph Halpert is a past master.

His silhouette suggests an easy easing-up of the silhouette . . . not a drastic, complete reversal of fashion form. You don't feel as though fashion were a stranger to you . . . but rather a long, lost relative come to do you and your presence a great deal of good. His styles . . . with their fullness striking a graceful balance above and below the waistline . . . obliterate figure-fear of the new trends.

A woman appreciates the bodice softened with drapery from one shoulder . . . fichu necklines and surplice closings . . . as fashion details which have always punctuated her clothes with taste and decorous high style. This season . . . Halpert likes decorative details that are functional . . . such as the flattery of a pink eyelet batiste gilet for a black crepe bolero costume . . . the all-one-shade appeal of large buttons of the fabric of a dress . . . the wide, substantial and smart-looking leather belt.

(Tomorrow's Design: Wool Dresses)

SMART, practical clothes are coming to the fore. I have always been a devotee of good construction and cut in women's costumes. Spring, 1946, satisfies this desire for common-sense tailoring.

There is an easing up of the silhouette in general. Fluid fullness above and below the waistline provide the necessary grace to suits and dresses. Sleeves are full and shoulders are raised.

I like the utter femininity of the clothes this Spring. I like the muted colors, the dominance of grays, from jacket costumes to distinguished one-piece dresses. Navy blue is taking its proper place as a basic dress and is stronger than heretofore. I like it worn with crisp white accessories.

Draped skirts and capped sleeves are gracious and charming. The bright colors this year are wonderful. So are the gay prints

Joseph Halpert

"ONESY, TWOSY" . . . but in this sheath of fashion intrigue it is "threesy" which gives unusual back interest to Joseph Halpert's rhythmical BROWN two-piece crepe dress. Perfectly plain in front . . . the dress is purposely slashed down the back and then tied together again with a trio of soft, feminine bows importantly placed. An elite...dark pretty . . . dramatic for big nights . . . you'll want to keep dancing so everybody can see your . . . or you are . . . back is interesting?

Court Demands Bookie Cleanup

SPRINGFIELD, April 18—Attaches and spectators in district court were startled today by a verbal blast against bookies by Judge William G. Granfield, who called on police to round up the city's gambling promoters within 30 days.

When William A. Scragg, 47, of Myrtle st., retracted a previous plea of innocent and pleaded guilty to registering bets on horses, the judge refused to impose sentence until a clean-up of the bookie business has been made.

"There are hundreds of others making book in this city," the judge told officers who arrested Scragg. "Bring them in in 30 days and then I'll dispose of this case."

The judge asked Scragg, "Are you in wrong, or not in at all?"

When Scragg made no answer, Judge Granfield read the riot act to police and ordered them to bring in not only the "outs" in the bookie business but also the many who are "in."

Keough, former GI, was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident and driving under the influence of liquor. Judge Eugene Hudson declined to suspend the sentence.

GI Terminal Pay Favored in House

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Hopes of terminal leave pay soared today for millions of GI's as a majority of House members signed on the dotted line in their behalf.

Unless the Representatives change their minds, the House on May 13 will vote to give all enlisted personnel, including those already discharged, the same accrued leave pay consideration now given to officers.

Enlisted personnel are entitled to 30 days' furlough annually, but unused time is cancelled, whereas officer leave carries over. The bill provides for lump-sum payment to enlisted men at the time of their discharge. Men already discharged would have one year to apply for theirs.

Bobby Doerr Too Good: Misses Out on Headlines

By AUSTEN LAKE

WASHINGTON, April 18—Bobby Doerr, the forgotten perfectionist of the Red Sox, did his usual unnoticed job in the season's second triumph, if that is not too large a word.

Austen Lake

Bobby speared hot hopping liners. Bobby went back to the deep grass to snag awkward rollers. Bobby danced behind second base to cut off natural base hits. Bobby was the infield handyman.

But nobody cheered. He did it all with such effortless ease that he evoked no admiration for his art. So he suffers in popular appraisal mainly because he can't make the easy ones look hard, and never attempts to make history out of a simple grounder.

Yet, in any poll of the Red Sox on who is the team's most useful athlete, the election would run closely between Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr.

Still the hero fawners here, as elsewhere, seldom waylay lean Bobby for his signature or pester him as they do Ted Williams. Though he sums up as fine an athletic figure as any of our great second sackers, including Eddie Collins in his prime, the citizens don't wait in patient queues for Bobby to shower, towel, dress and emerge from the little green door under the stand. They never delay him long after his dinner hour scrawling his name as they do Williams, whose every little act is studied by a doting public.

The people just don't pay any attention to the best second baseman in baseball.

What Is 'Color'?

YESTERDAY'S BATTING marathon was an example—and those Red Sox of 1946 have a collective wallop like the monopoly formerly enjoyed by the prewar Yankees.

As Williams dusted his hands on the community resin bag before going out to hitch his britches or stretch his rubbery arms, the crowd made little appreciative gurgles and goos. When the Senator pitcher began to pass Ted deliberately in the fifth, Ted didn't wait for the pitch but ambled jauntily down the line as an impish gesture against one of the game's foolish formalities. The crowd rocked with hilarity. And it hooted contemptuously in the eighth when Ted was intentionally passed again. But when Bobby Doerr immediately lashed a roller that scored two runs, they just moaned. The majestic touch wasn't there.

What is this stuff called glamour? I submit that Doerr has never received the appreciation from the people either of his home town or elsewhere as an alert, competent master of his art. Because he isn't a diving, sprawling type who spins around on the back of his neck, losing his cap and throwing eye-lash putouts for the sake of sensation.

So, for lack of something picturesque to say, we of the press say little or nothing and publicize some of the game's more picturesque pranksters who often haven't a smidgeon of Doerr's technical talent. And isn't it about time that somebody gives the sturdy perfectionist some long overdue credit?

So, springtime came to Clark Griffith's emerald acres where the rejuvenated Sox punched the fragrant atmosphere full of perforations. It was springtime with a breath of orchids, soft as a baby's kiss and fraught with the perfume of many fried chicken from the surrounding Negro cook shops. I mean that a syrupy warmth poured from a cloudless sky so that smoke from distant factories hung like motionless smkudes of a printer's thumb, and crept into the Red Sox bats like nature's whisky. The Sox made 13 runs and fifteen hits, or what used to be a fail week's ration of both in the old day when they were the Fenway Fauntleroys.

And, there's Dom Di Maggio, little larger than standard sized jockey and another one of those athletes who is generally regarded as part of the team's necessary furniture, but who, like Doerr, is a quiet, unobtrusive workman who never cuts any psychopathic capers or performs any histrionic nonsense that endear him to the people. Yet Dom, who hit the only home run in Tuesday's game and went deeper and wider to snag alien flies than any of his mates, does his work with the quiet industry of an unspoiled schoolboy. He doesn't twitch his anatomical portions or make any wiggles as he trundles round the bases. And, if he lacks the kingly mien of some of the dignitaries of the sport, what is this thing called theatre?

Bobby-Dom Day

HUMAN NATURE is variable and one cannot expect ball players, born to different parents and reared in unlike surroundings, to react similarly in the same line of work. My theme here is to point out the public's opposite response to men of almost identical ability in their several phases of their work—affectionate fawning toward some with that indefinable substance called "color" and impersonal respect for the others.

Some of this attitude traces back to us sport authors who prefer sensational and picturesque people and laud an athlete less for his sober, diligent phases than for his muscular might and stage presence. We look for tang, piquancy and flavor. Thus ability to sail a ball over the fences is of a national concern. And we ignore the pallid pigments of common sense and perfection of skill in players like Doerr and Dom, who carry the game's freight out in the monotone background against which the personalities glitter.

I suggest that sometime, when the Sox level off into the heat of the season, Boston could do no better than to set aside an afternoon when the badge of popular appreciation will be pinned on the bosoms of two of its most ignored and publicity-neglected artisans.

Negro Star to Start In Jersey City Opener

NEW YORK, April 18(AP)—Jackie Robinson, the highly publicized Negro baseball star, will open the season today in Jersey City as regular second baseman for the Montreal Royals of the International League.

Robinson's appearance will mark the first time a Negro has played in a regular league game in modern organized baseball.

Australian Driver In Tiverton Races

TIVERTON, R. I., April 18—Billie Randall, all the way from Australia, will be one of the featured drivers at the inauguration of the weekly seven event midget auto race program which opens this Sunday evening at the local macadam track.

Ted Keeps Sox Up

By HUCK FINNEGAN

WASHINGTON, April 18—A most bizarre series is this between the Red Sox and Senators which closed today with southpaw Mickey Harris making his first big league start since 1941 against Rae Scarborough. Not a thing, it seems, is running to form except possibly Williams' hitting. Imagine Hughson being combed for 11 hits in the opener, Ferriss being batted from the box in the second game, and the Sox winning both handily by 6-3 and 13-6 margins. Hughson won 18, lost 5 in '44, and Ferriss won his first eight starts last year. Apparently the Sox don't need pitching to win. They just overpower the enemy.

Oddities: Rudy York shining more on the base paths and afield than at bat; Bobby Doerr batting in two runs on a fielder's choice; southpaw Earl Johnson plugging the dyke after Ferriss faltered, though he hadn't been in a big league game since '41; lead-off man Dom DiMaggio, topping the club in RBI, hitting a three-run homer, scoring from second on an infield out on a taped leg, and worrying about his outfielding; Hal Wagner macing the ball despite a bruised right hand; Williams strolling to first base after one pitch of an intentional pass had been made.

"Come back here 'skin and bones,'" yelled umps Grieve and Summers as Williams sauntered down the line after southpaw Max Wilson had thrown one wide pitch to Al Evans. Williams came back grinning broadly, took his stance until four balls had been called.

"I wasn't trying to be smart," he explained. "Over in the Hawaiian League on an intentional pass the batter was waved to first after one pitch. I was told they were going to do the same thing in the big leagues this year. That was my first intentional pass, so I ambled along. I was surprised when I was called back."

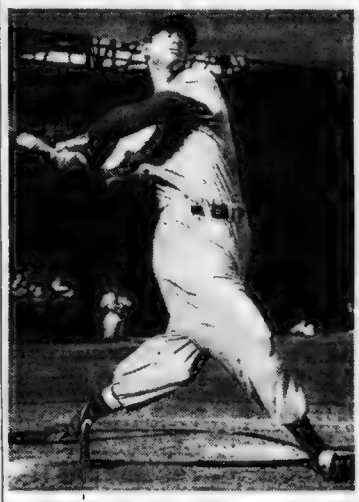
Might be a good idea for the majors to adopt the Hawaiian plan. The 13-6 game went 2 hours, 45 minutes. Time was wasted as Wilson, then Pieretti kept throwing wide to Evans while Williams waited.

Before his three walks, Williams wasted no time boosting his batting average from .200 to .500. He had taken a lot of joshing about getting only "one for five" in the opener, even though that one was a home run into the centerfield stands that Joe Judge estimated traveled 470 feet.

First time up, Ted singled off Masterson. Second time up, he doubled off Curtis. Third time up southpaw Wilson relieved Curtis with DiMag and Pesky on the path. Williams hit the 30-foot barrier in right-center a foot from the top for a double, scoring both runners. So he skipped from .200, to .333, to .400, to .500 in three trips to the plate. ("And that's the last time I'll be down to .200," he promised.)

Everybody's been raving about DiMaggio's play but DiMaggio himself. He's been hobbling on a bad leg for a week, yet with the bases loaded in the sixth he scored from second as Doerr was forcing Williams at second. Johnson also scored on the play, so Bobby had two RBI without a base hit. Dom's inside-the-park homer came with Wagner and Ferriss on base, and it must have been torture for him circling the paths. Yet he isn't worried about his leg.

"I'm not getting a jump on the ball in the outfield," he complained. "I could have caught two more flies and probably enabled Ferriss to finish. I haven't played the outfield since I was at Norfolk in '43; while I was in the Pacific I played nothing but shortstop. Perhaps if I knew the pitchers and hitters better I'd be all right. Perhaps one swing around the circuit will do the trick. All I know is that I'm not fielding as I was when I was last in the league."



ANOTHER—Ted Williams smashes out another hit in a perfect day at bat in the second game of the season at Washington. Note follow through in Ted's swing, one of the reasons he gets such tremendous distance into his wallops.

Narragansett Is Ready For Saturday's Opening

By JACK CONWAY

NARRAGANSETT PARK is dolled up and ready for the opening of the New England racing season on Saturday . . . In a pre-opening tour, this writer found President James E. Dooley, chairman of the board, Charley Connors and the directors in a huddle in the pent house as they made the last minute arrangements for the spring meeting.

Judge Dooley

Riggs Mahoney was on the job in the mutuels tuning things up . . . Riggs ordered the men who punch out the tickets and who payoff on the winning tickets to report today . . . There will be hundreds of returning war veterans on the job at Narragansett this year, according to Billy Ames, director of publicity . . . Even a veteran who has been wounded is able to perform 100 per cent of his duties in a mutuel department without too much physical strain.

All of the stalls are either filled or allotted . . . This writer toured the area near the track and saw scores of horses quartered in old barns . . . The thoroughbreds will be walked to the track for their morning workouts, and will also be walked to the track on afternoons when they race.

Judge Dooley has tossed out all suggestions for a receiving barn on the grounds that horses held under restraint become nervous and that if a horseman really intends to "dope" his thoroughbred that he is able to do so even if the animal is obliged to spend part of his time in a receiving barn.

Narragansett Park will also not attempt to put in any patrol system of cameras . . . It contends that patrol cameras have not been speeded up to a point where the pictures can be developed in time to be of real service . . . Bill Kyne, general manager of Bay Meadows, told this writer when he was in Boston that his track uses patrol cameras chiefly for examination of the pictures the morning after the races.

"The fact we have the patrol system of cameras," said Bill, "puts some fear into the jockeys . . . They do not wish to have a picture show where they have done something wrong on the track."

Speaking of Betting

RIGGS MAHONEY and other persons close to racing feel that there will be a record handle at the Narragansett Park opening . . . New England racegoers are eager for action, and they are still supplied with plenty of fresh money . . . Narragansett will still continue to charge 50 cents for admission to the grandstand and $1 for admission to the clubhouse . . . Suffolk Downs will lift its grandstand tariff to $1 where there will be a $2 charge to get into the clubhouse . . . The Suffolk Downs statement, released yesterday, showed profits of $27.86 a share for a total of $830,768 for the year . . . This was a new high for any New England track . . . With excess profit tax decreases, Suffolk Downs will earn more than $1,000,000 this year if it gets its share of the increased betting . . . The date for the Suffolk Downs auction was set as May 1 by Judge George Sweeney as he desired all prospective bidders to have an opportunity to see the latest financial statement of the track.

Narragansett is unlikely to have any competition from the new Lincoln track until next year . . . Meanwhile the Lincoln group will continue to operate at Pascoag which has proved a very profitable venture.

Horsemen Like Track

HORSEMEN like the surface of the Narragansett track . . . it has been resurfaced, and it will not be too hard . . . It is better to have the times a bit slower and the thoroughbreds end up sound after a race . . . There is little sport in racing horses over a cardboard track . . . While the times are faster, many horses are destroyed during a meeting as a result of injuries . . . There is a telephone call at the rate of every 30 seconds in the press department at Narragansett . . . Showing interest by press and radio in the opening . . . Dave Alexander, who was recently discharged from the Army, is back in the press department as one of Billy Ames' aides . . . Dave is one of the better turf writers.

Hearing Asked On Ring Muddle

The boxing commission is preparing a hearing to determine whether or not a contract filed last Monday by the Callahan A. C. can stop the "Spider" Armstrong-Sal Bartolo 15-round battle for the N. B. A. featherweight championship ? now held by Bartolo, planned by the Goodwin A. C. for Friday, May 3, at the Garden.

The Callahan Club contract, filed three days after the Goodwin contract with Armstrong, shows that Armstrong signed to meet Tony Costa at Mechanics Building on May 10 and the contract is dated March 11, before Costa had made his first postwar appearance in Boston at the Garden on March 18. The Callahan contract also states that Armstrong cannot engage in any bouts 10 days before this match.

Braves Lack Punch But Fans Like Them

By FRED HOEY

There was nothing the Braves did in their 4 to 2 losing game with the Dodgers that a timely hit here and there couldn't have cured. They still look like a much improved ball club. The fans like them. This is the test of a team's popularity.

The Braves have a two-day respite before tackling the Phils in Philadelphia on Saturday which opens a short swing around the Eastern circuit. Four games in Philadelphia, two with the Giants, and two with the Dodgers will complete the trip.

The Braves have a couple of days to reflect on their missed chances in the Dodger finale here. Dick Culler, at short, will be the villain in most books. He missed a double-play ball which cost the Braves two runs and the ball game. But those things happen to the best of shortstops.

From our perch, we believe Culler was a bit in a hurry to grab the ball before he had it. It went right through. The batter was Young Furillo who can really burn up that first base line. There were two on at the time. As the ball trickled through Culler into left field, Billy Herman and Pete Reiser scored.

This all happened after Pee Wee Reese had scored the first run in the opening round. So, there was your ball game. Three runs in. The Braves, fighting valiantly, tried to overcome the lead and had plenty of chances but failed dismally.

The failure came in the eighth when they had men on second and third and one out. Up came Max West to bat for Skippy Roberge. Max looks at a called third strike. Then along came Chuck Workman to hit for Dick Culler. Chuck must have had that home run complex. He swung tremendously three times and missed for the final out.

Manager Billy Southworth presented southpaw Jimmy Wallace but only after the game had gone into the ashcan in the first. Ed Wright had started but a couple of hits and Culler's boot gave the visitors their three runs.

Opening the second Buster Graham combed Wright for a sharp single to right. Southworth lifted big Wright, and called in Wallace.

This Hoosier from Evansville turned in a beautiful effort for the balance of the game. He was reached for exactly four hits in eight rounds. This comes under the head of masterful pitching. He was a bit wild at times giving up six walks, but some of these were intentional passes.

York Makes Good On Eagles' Mound

Roger York, strapping right handed chucker, who reported to Fred Maguire at Boston College this week, is virtually assured a regular starting post, as a result of the cass of ball he has hurled the last few days.

His appearance is a welcome one to the Eagles, who have a well rounded nine, but a very weak mound staff, for he gives them the balance that is needed.

With York, Maguire will use Frank Callaghan, Bob Quirk, Paul Martin, Mike Crimmins, and Jerry Lovinson, on the hill, when he opens his first post-war season on Saturday against Northeastern at Brookline.

NEPONSET T. T. IN PARK LOOP

The Neponset Town Team of Dorchester, managed by Joe Candella, has been added to the newly organized Boston Park Dept. City baseball league scheduled to start Monday night, May 6.

Former Harvard Runner Forms Baseball Guild

City hall records listed today the American Baseball Guild, which declared its purpose was "to right the injustices of professional baseball and give a square deal to the players."

The Guild was recorded by Robert Murphy, Boston, lawyer and a former Harvard trackman, who is a labor relations director. According to Murphy the Guild platform seeks:

"Freedom of baseball contracts, arbitration of salary disputes, provisions for security and insurance and the players' rights to receive a percentage of their sales' price."

Murphy said a number of major and minor league players had joined the union.

This is the third attempt to organize professional ball players. An attempt to organize "The Brotherhood" in the 1890's failed. In 1912 Dave Fultz organized the "Ball Players Fraternity," which lasted only a short time.

Harvard Set For Opener

Harvard is set to pry the lid off a semi-formal baseball season tomorrow when it meets Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy on Soldiers Field at 3 p. m. followed by a home game with University of Connecticut on Saturday.

Coach Floyd Stahl will lead with southpaw Johnny Knowles of Cambridge or Joe Phelan of Fall River, a 1942 righthander and ex-Marine. Bill Barron will receive.

Bill Fitz at first base, is expected to help a great deal at the plate and strengthen one of the smoothest looking infields seen on Soldiers Field in several years.

The outfield will line up with Bill Harford in left, Frank Pierce in center and Ray Sullivan in right. Harford should develop into a timely and consistent clean-up man if practice games are any indication.

New uniforms and old faces will appear as Harvard starts its 16-game schedule, highlight of which is the Yale series in June. Oddly enough, in the interim between Yale games on the 5th and 24th of June, several Crimson players will be lost via graduation, thus necessitating a new team facing Eli on Commencement Day, the 24th.

NJ Race Stock Rockets To Net Smith 1700 for 1

By JACK CONWAY

Lou Smith, the pioneer of legalized horse racing in New England and two new owners of big racing stables, Sam Garfield and Irving Gushen, have made thousands of dollars in profits as a result of the magical rise in the value of the stock in the Monmouth Park Jockey Club at Oceanport, N. J.

The stock in the Monmouth Park Jockey Club was sold at a penny a share to purchasers of $1000 bonds. Each holder of a $1000 bond was permitted to buy 100 shares of the common stock of the track at a penny a share. When the stock recently topped $17 a share, it was like a 1700-to-1 shot winning as far as the fortunate shareholders in the New Jersey track are concerned.

A report from an authoritative source in New York today stated that Smith had made a profit of $60,000 while Garfield and Gushen had made $50,000 each. The selling of the stock has been absorbed quickly by New York and New Jersey interests who are anxious to gain control of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club.

The track is situated at Oceanport, N. J., which is in the heart of the summer business of New Jersey. It is the home of many wealthy people.

It is estimated there will be 600,000 persons within easy riding distance of the track, while it is less than an hour by train to New York city.

The rise in value of Narragansett Park stock, while spectacular, does not compare with the fast upturn in the stock of Monmouth Park. In the case of the New Jersey track, it is not yet completed, and a horse has not even been on the grounds since the new group started its alterations and building. It is merely another case of the public's desire to gain an interest in the ownership of a race track.

Monmouth Park is scheduled to open on June 10 and operate through July 20. Word from Horace Wade, publicity director of Monmouth Park, is to the effect that everything will be ready for the opening, that President Amory L. Haskell is back on the job after a trip to Florida, that the 1500 stalls will not be sufficient to accommodate all the horses that horsemen wish to ship to the New Jersey track, and that officials will be named next week.

Monmouth Park was the brain child of Lou Smith. The latter has decided to devote all his time to Rockingham Park, and he announces he is no longer interested in Monmouth Park. This decision by Smith accounts for the selling of stock by Garfield and Gushen.

Smith stated when he organized Monmouth Park that there was $500,000 of New England and New York money brought into the affair by himself. Now that Lou has severed connection with Monmouth Park he has taken many of his group out of the stock with a large profit. It is understood that many of the owners of stock have retained their bonds which have been selling about 10 per cent. below par.

No interest was paid on the bonds last year. The bonds call for 6 per cent. interest. If the track opens and has a successful meeting, the bond interest will be the first obligation.

This will mean that there will be $120 due on each $1000 bond in the fall.

It is understood that Garfield and Gushen are prepared to back a syndicate headed by Atty. Maurice Simon in which Lou Smith is interested insofar as bidding for Suffolk Downs is concerned. Persons friendly with Smith have already acquired 1900 shares of Suffolk Downs stock in the open market. Purchases were made below $100 a share, which is less than half of the price now quoted on the stock of the East Boston track.

While the sale of Suffolk Downs is set for May 1, Atty. Henry Lees, representing the owners of the controlling common stock of Aldred Investment Trust, has asked for a delay. The matter will be heard by Judge George Sweeney in federal court.

Atty. Lees maintains it would be more beneficial to Aldred Investment Trust if its 14,991 shares in Suffolk Downs are not sold until the stock setup of the track is reorganized. It is planned to split the stock. Lees maintains that the real value of the present stock is $600 a share.

The rapid rise in Suffolk Downs stock, and the large increase in value of 59,000 shares of Gillette stock has made the assets of Aldred Investment Trust $8,832,300 which is $2,932,300 greater than the aggregate par value of the outstanding trust debentures.

The Suffolk Downs earnings for the past year were $830,768 for $27.86 a share which is a new high.

If the May 1 auction of the track takes place on schedule, it will produce the wildest bidding for control of a track in the history of the sport.

GOLF

Snead Greatest Natural Golfer

By BYRON NELSON

Same Snead, "Slammin' Sammy, the Barefoot Bay of Golf," is back on his game again and from now on we tournament-playing professionals will have him to contend with in shooting for first money.

Byron Nelson

Sam was in a slump for a few months, but he's got his old rhythm back now and will be hard to beat from here on in. I played a few rounds with him recently and, take it from me, Sam is ready for another streak of hot golf.

In my estimation Sammy is the greatest natural golfer the game has ever known. When I say natural I mean that, from all reports at least, Sammy didn't have to spend those long hours on the practice tee developing his game as other players have.

Analyze his game and you will find that at all times Sammy keeps his head directly over the ball. He has a good firm grip with both hands on his club and a tremendous shoulder turn. The distance that Sam's clubhead travels is probably greater than that of any player in the game, but still he doesn't overswing.

Sammy is one player I like to be paired with or teamed with during the course of a tournament. He's one of the most colorful players in the game and during a match his face registers all emotions. He smiles, frowns, laughs, and talks to the gallery about the shot he has to make. It's never a dull afternoon when you play with Sammy.

If there is any chink in Sammy Snead's armor as a golfer it is his concentration. If Sam had the same ability to concentrate that Ralph Guidahl, Lawson Little, Ben Hogan and Paul Runyan have, he would be unbeatable. Fortunately, for the rest of us tournament golfers, he hasn't.

Boat, Bait Shops Ready for 'Salts'

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

"How about some salt water fishing news?" writes a reader. "The fly casters have received plenty of publicity this week, but I'm hungry for a few notes about my favorite sport."

Okay, here you are:

Al Tripp sends word from Manomet Point that his boats will be in the water tomorrow. The popular boat station operator has kept busy during the winter, making numerous repairs and alterations, as well as installing a new dock . . . As for fish, Al can't guarantee any at this date, although the sportsmen ought to hook some cod . . . And a sudden stretch of warm weather will bring other species to this spot.

After serving in the Pacific, Bill Dupree has been released from the Army, and is ready for a big season. He has reopened his bait and tackle shop on Front st., Plymouth, and also plans to maintain a bait float at the State Pier in Plymouth.

Charlie Caldera, who runs the boat livery at Cohasset Narrows, is constructing a new bait headquarters at Buzzards Bay, right at the water's edge, with a concrete foundation sunk below water level . . . Clayton Fuller says the spring run of flounders is on in Buttermilk bay.

After five years of war, OPA, and drouth, the Lower Cape Surf Casters Association is going to hit on high again, starting with a meeting to be held Saturday evening, at the Southward Inn, Orleans . . . At this time, new officers will be elected, committees appointed, and future plans formulated . . . Present officers include Frank Thompson, pres.; Bernard Collins, vice-pres.; and Edwin Taylor, sec'y-treas.

Lucky anglers in the vicinity of Niantic and New London, Ct., are landing large flatfish and striped bass, according to Capt. Ray Snyder of Springfield, who takes out parties on his boat, the Dorothea, together with Capt. Marjorie Weeks, only girl sport fishing pilot in America . . . They're waiting for the blues to run at Montauk.

OUTDOOR O.O.'s—At the recent trapshoot conducted by the Ipswich Sportsmen's Ass'n, Orin Arlin, Secretary of the Mass. Amateur Trapshooting Ass'n, was high gunner in the singles event, with 23 out of 25 . . . In the handicap, J. Henderson topped the field, hitting 21 targets.

Joseph Bukaiemski, Secretary of the Hub Racing Pigeon Club, Boston, asks us to convey word to hunters to learn to identify homing pigeons in flight, for many are shot, mistaken for crows or hawks, which may be bagged during the off-season.

Fishing for trout this week, Gunner Benson fell into a Hingham stream, then crawled out, soaking wet, and caught six big ones!

Figures Don't Lie

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Maybe there's something to the contention of local sportsmen that the West Coast is ready for major league baseball.

Mentioning arguments that Los Angeles wouldn't support the big time, the Times printed this box of comparative attendance figures on yesterday's games:

Los Angeles, 6486; Chicago, 6424; Cincinnati, 4529; St. Louis, 4469.

Pics Take Lead In Coast Series

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 18 (AP)—The Boston Olympics outclassed the Vancouver Canucks 8-3 here last night to go a game up in their best-of-seven series for the United States Amateur Hockey championship. The Olympics had taken the first game 9-6 and dropped the second 9-1.

Boston jammed home four tallies in the first 15 minutes of play and Vancouver never threatened to overcome the edge.

St. Sebastian Hurler Gets Second No-Hitter

Bob McNabb hurled a six-inning no-hitter as St. Sebastian's defeated Middlesex School 17-1 at Concord yesterday.

McNabb who pitched a no-hitter against Belmont Hill last year, toyed with the losers until the final inning, the sixth, when Clark who had reached on a fielder's choice, moved to second on an out and then tallied on a wild pitch.

Ball Player's Child In 'Critical' Condition

BALTIMORE, April 18 (AP)—The condition of Robbie Ann Robinson, two-year-old daughter of William "Eddie" Robinson, first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, was described as "critical" today at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

CHENEY'S powder is a time tested safe and proven killer THAT IS NON-POISONOUS TO HUMANS, a famous formula that still leads the field. DDT's, 1080's and other highly touted powders still have to bow to the efficiency and safety of Cheney's powder.

Roaches often come into the home on market baskets or delivered packages. They are unclean insects which should not be tolerated in a well kept home.

They walk forth from sink and sewer pipes over your pantry shelves and food, carrying germs. Kill them all the safe way.

Stranahan Threat for British Title

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Frank Stranahan, handsome 23-year-old Toledo amateur, will lead a one-man golf invasion of Britain next month, and those who have played with and against him on this side think he stands a great chance of returning with the British amateur crown, as Jess Sweetser, Bobby Jones, Lawson Little and Charlie Yates did before him.

The first American to try conclusions with the British since the war interrupted play in '39, Stranahan plans to fly across about May 15 and to get in several days of practice over the Royal Lytham and St. Anne's links at Southport before title play begins May 22.

This is the same long, seaside layout over which Little won his second straight British amateur in '35, and Lawson, now a ranking professional, feels it is made to order for a powerful drive like Stranahan.

"I'd say he has a good chance of beating the entire British field," Little said between rounds of the recent Masters' Tournament at Augusta. "He's got a fine all-around game and he knows how to play in the wind, which is about the most important thing at St. Anne's."

Since getting out of the service after three years in uniform, Stranahan has followed the pros right around the winter circuit. He didn't win a tournament, but he finished high several times and was leading amateur on numerous occasions. His last important victory was in the Durham, N. C., Open in '45.

Son of a wealthy parent, Robert A. Stranahan of Toledo, Frank was pretty much brought up on a golf course. His teacher much of the time has been Byron Nelson, his home pro, and this no doubt accounts for his fine play in the wind.

The elder Stranahan played in the '35 British amateur at St. Anne's, the same that Little won, but was eliminated in the first round after developing a case of blood poisoning from wearing faulty socks.

Frank's nickname is "Muscles," for reasons that are readily obvious. He carries a set of weights around with him and practices with them at the drop of a dumbbell.

One claim made for Stranahan is that he spends even more time on the practice tee than Ben Hogan, previously the undisputed champion.

Among those who know their golfers best, Stranahan is rated third among American amateurs at the moment. Bud Ward, the wartime holdover, still is considered the toughest competitor of the lot, and Carey Middlecoff, the Memphis soldier-dentist who won the last North and South open, is ranked a close second. The professionals, in fact, hope Middlecoff remains an amateur.
